MR. EVERETT A. BATES

To Whom We Respectfully Dedicate This Volume

Dedications are known the world o'er as expressions of tribute to those who have endeared themselves in the hearts of others. We, the Medley Staff of 1932, dedicate this book to you, Mr. Everett A. Bates, in an endeavor to express our admiration, appreciation, and respect.

Words are so inadequate, so futile; yet in this small way we hope to show you how truly sincere is that bond which exists between the student body and yourself.

May this serve as an inspiration to you, as you have served as an inspiration to us.

Regards to D. H. S.

It is my earnest desire that all pupils and all teachers have a keen feeling of personal responsibility toward the high school of which they are a part, that they revere and respect her traditions, that they be jealous of her good name, and that they be charitable toward her faults while striving unselfishly for her improvement.

It is a pleasure to feel that I have a part in this work with and for you.

—C. E. VANCE.

A Milestone and a Beginning

Many of the important milestones in one's existence are passed but once. Among these are beginning school, completing the work of the elementary school, and graduation from high school, an experience which is soon to come to some 260 of our present student body.

As you have passed through the experiences indicated by the above milestones, have you had some share of joy, of happiness, and of good fortune? Have you made the best of your advantages which have come your way?

With greater fields of accomplishment open to you it is well to keep in mind the people and circumstances which made it possible to reach your present situation. To live up to the best you know and to help others to do the same will in some measure repay all those who have contributed to your success so far.

My wish for all students of D. H. S., particularly for the graduates of 1932, is a sound mind in a sound body and the opportunity to use both.

—JOHN E. WAKELEY.

The Essentials of Success

It has occurred to me that the most essential equipment of the ex-student of today is rigorous self-discipline. That which leads to success is related to personal responsibility, adequate self-control and painstaking care to do the correct act.

We live in an increasingly scientific and mechanistic age. Our physical strength is multiplied many times by pushing a button, moving a lever, mixing up a concoction by chemical formula. We live in an increasingly complex age socially and politically. We are befuddled by countless opinions of thousands of authorities. We are asked to take a stand on questions ranging from neighborhood interest to world importance. We live at a time when morals are being exploded and sacred institutions are being attacked by the most astute minds of the earth.

To use our newly developed physical powers, to analyze the social problems, to select what is best of the old morality and throw out what is impracticable of the new challenges one's utmost ability.

To what degree is the ex-student of today efficient in this essential? One fact may help to answer the question. The American school represents the most successful experiment ever conducted along these lines. It has got results before. It represents the world's best procedure for creating self-discipline. It will improve, but the graduates of Danville High School, as typically representative of other groups, may feel that what has been done for them and by them to secure this self-discipline is the best the world has to offer. It is the starting point for success.

Assistant Principal

—R. M. DUFFIN.

MISS PAYNE

M. A.

University of Chicago,
University of Wisconsin.

Dean of Girls

Miss Payne has served faithfully in her position as Dean of Girls for six years, befriending all who have come to her.

As Girls' Club adviser she has become a pleasant companion and friend especially to the Senior Girls. Through daily contact with her she has shown us her understanding nature. It is needless to say that we appreciate all her efforts in behalf of our welfare.

In the years to come what Senior can but look back and remember many pleasant times spent in her company.

MR. SCHOOLCRAFT

M. A.

Wabash University,
University of Illinois.

Dean of Boys

After a little more than two years as Dean of Boys, Mr. Schoolcraft has won the cooperation of all students. His good nature and helpful advice makes him a true friend of those who meet him daily.

Mr. Schoolcraft is also the adviser of the Boosters Club and has made this organization a success.

He has endeared himself to all students because of his sympathetic and understanding nature.

Students of D. H. S. Have Reached Their Goal

Seniors Appreciate Helpful Co-operation Given by Faculty

The class of '32 has reached its goal of "Honor Through Effort." The road has been rocky in some places, but with steadfast determination we have overcome the obstacles which have confronted us. We shall meet the future with the same determination which we have thus far shown. The days which we have spent in D. H. S. have been most happy, and will long be remembered. We regret that our work is finished. While in school, we have maintained the standard set by the preceding classes and, we trust, have added to D. H. S. standards and glories. Through the splendid help and cooperation which we have received from the faculty, we feel that we owe much to D. H. S. Our four years' experience has helped to lay the foundation for our future undertakings. We are filled with joy to be able to graduate from D. H. S.—the school we love the best.

Senior Adviser

MISS RUTH SANDESON

The Class of '32 sincerely thanks Miss Sandeson for her kindly aid and helpfulness to us during the years of our High School career, especially our last year. She willingly gives valuable service and suggestions to all school activities and is unsurpassed as a friendly and loving adviser. Her pleasing personality influences all with whom she comes in contact. All students appreciate her companionship and cooperation as she helps plan and carry out school functions. We, as Seniors, have found a friend and an ideal, whose influence shall guide us after high school days.

SENIOR CLASS SONG

"THE BLUE AND THE GOLD"

As the blue and gold of the sunset
Is a promise to-morrow dawns fair,
So the blue and the gold are our colors,
Is a promise that laughs at despair.
A promise that new paths before us,
Shall lead on to glory and fame.
And part of the pitfalls and detours
Lie back on the road we just came.

We have come to the end of the trail,
Where the roads cross and lead us away.
And while we are here all to-gether
This last glad farewell we would say.
And after we finish the chorus,
And the last solemn notes softly die,
Let the wind carry back our last message
We are leaving D. H. S. - - - So Good bye.

CHORUS:

We have laughed, we have lived, we have loved,
In the halls of our old D. H. S.
We have lived not to laugh but to learn,
Honor through effort is success.
And though our paths are narrow and long
And lead us to lands far away.
In our hearts we will carry this song
And the friends we are leaving to-day.

—MARGARET MAXWELL.

Commencement

Commencement is the Senior's Great Day; the Final Danville High School Day

This year it is an unusual one for it marks an active participation of the class in their graduation program. By a vote the Seniors nominated their representatives to serve as Commencement speakers. These representatives of the 1932 class have taken for their original talks the seven phases of school activities that develop the principal objectives of education.

EARL CHAMBERS.....	"Citizenship"
LINCOLN RICHARDSON.....	"Worthy Use of Leisure"
JOHN BOEHM.....	"Character"
CARROLL SNYDER.....	"Health"
KATHERINE MCNEILL.....	"The Process of Learning"
ELEANOR MIELKE.....	"Worthy Home Membership"
CLAIR STINE.....	"Vocational Education"

These speakers, introductions by Thomas Viskniskki and Mary Jane Walker, the response for the class by President Robert Shinall, and the class song by all the Seniors, have given an added interest and meaning to Commencement, on June 2, in the High School auditorium.

SENIOR CLASS GIFT

In the gymnasium, in the main corridor and outside the building one can see a Senior Class 1932 gift. An electric score board in the gymnasium shows time and score just as it is recorded at the desk of the officials. This will continue to make basketball games more thrilling year after year.

As 1932 is the Washington Bi-Centennial year, a bronze plaque of George Washington by the French sculptor, Jean Houdon, will hang in the main corridor as a perpetual reminder of our national hero.

This bust is the official one selected by the National Commission and is the design chosen by the Federal government for one cent Bi-Centennial stamp. Because the planting of trees is a national government movement to commemorate this year, the Seniors of 1932 voted to buy and plant a tree to adorn the campus and to be a living memorial of the 1932 Senior Class.

IN MEMORIAM

This book is but a key to unlock our memory and bring back the joys and sorrows of our High School days. The faces on its pages will remain unchanged by the ravages of time, and too, will remain although death has taken them away.

Willing Hands

The prayer:

I have nothing to offer in riches or fame;
On the records of men, I am only a name,
Oh Father! I'm afraid they won't do,
But these hands of mine I offer to you.
I bow down in shame; they are scarred with life's toil,
Not white like the dove, but brown
like the soil.
But please take them, Father, they're all that I own;
The flesh is my flesh, the bone is my bone.

The answer:

One cannot buy heaven with riches or fame;
I love only souls and I ignore the name.
Of all of my wishes, of all my demands,
What more can I ask for than your
willing hands.
I accept these hands—beautified by toil,
Cleaner than the dove though they're brown like the soil.
What more can I have of all that men
own,
Than the flesh of their flesh and the bone of their bone.

—MARGARET MAXWELL.

MISS MITCHELL

Our greatest regret this year has been the loss of Miss Mamie Mitchell. Her sudden death two days after Thanksgiving, November 28, was a shock to us all. At the time of her death she was an instructor in our English Department, having been with us since 1926. We know her as one who encouraged, and pleaded in order to get the best work from her pupils, and, in the end, succeeded in drawing out unknown talents from them. Her originality and diligency placed her above the ordinary. She was constantly relieving the monotony of the school room with her novel ideas.

Miss Mitchell was born in December 1898, in Sidell. She moved to Danville twenty-five years ago and continued to live here until her death. She attended Washington School and graduated from the University of Illinois.

In Miss Mitchell we have lost more than a capable teacher—we have lost a friend.

Fred Hodgemen was born in Toronto, Canada, April 3, 1917. He attended the Junior High School of Jacksonville, but entered D. H. S. last fall as a first semester freshman. He was killed in an accident November 2, 1931.

Junior Adviser

MR. JOHNSON

"The Mighty, Middle Men March On"---

"Between the dark of night and the full of day is the splendor of dawn." Just so, between the dignified Senior and the arrogant Sophomore is the happy medium of the "Mighty Men."

Joy's, sorrows, fellowships, adventures, days of humbleness, hours of striving and seconds of rewards, this tells the condensed story of the Junior class of nineteen thirty-three.

Many members of the Junior class have gained recognition; for instance the Junior Class officers. They are all well chosen. President, Bill Easterbrook; Vice-President, Kenneth Rockstroh; Secretary, Milton Wolford; Treasurer, Dick Jones; Chairman of Pin Committee, Marguerite Smith; Chairman of Social Committee, John Morris; Representative to Student Council, Louise Jupin and Margaret Dixon.

In looking over the past years, what Junior won't smile at happy recollections and say, "Ah, we Juniors, now there was a class. "United in school spirit, alive, active, with good leaders and cooperative followers.

The Juniors of '32 have appreciated their class adviser, Mr. Johnson, because of the interest he always has shown toward the Juniors. His sincerity and thoughtfulness have made him a very valuable friend and adviser. The road is not hard to travel with such a faithful leader as Mr. Johnson.

Sophomores Enjoy High School As They Rush Into Its Activities

Sophomore Adviser

MISS LARSON

Miss Larson is adviser of the Sophomore class. Perhaps Miss Larson has not come in contact with all of the Sophomores but she has been more than glad to help all who have come to her. They are all glad to have her for their adviser.

At the first of the year the Sophomores were dashing about as if they owned the place. They were here and there—always with that possessive air. They began to feel it was their school, and they treated it as such. They had become accustomed to being razzed but now that razzing stage was over and new “greenies” were here to take their place. New friendships were formed with people from all classes. Activities of all sorts, clubs, football, swimming, girls athletics, were all dazzling them and inviting them with open arms. As they joined these organizations a new feeling of superiority came to them. They wanted to do things; be themselves. They prepared themselves to be officers of organizations and to take the place of their upper-classmen, the Juniors.

The officers of the Sophomore Class were well chosen and all willing to cooperate.

Freshmen Enter Into High School Life Under the Leadership of Miss Parker

Freshman Officers

Top Row: Fred Strickland, Representative to Student Council; Charles Gaines, President;

Bottom Row: George Matthews, Secretary; June Kerr, Chairman of Social Committee; Gilbert Supple, Vice-President.

Three more years to go! Such is true for the Freshmen who have been trying very hard to adapt themselves to Danville High School. Our desire is that they will carry out the rest of their high school career as well as they have to the present time. Although they are commonly known as "green freshmen" and we have smiled to their embarrassment trying to find seats in study halls, they have lived through it all admirably. It didn't take them long to get acquainted with old D. H. S. and be one of us.

This beginning class selected as its officers: Charles Gaines, president; Gilbert Supple, vice-president; George Matthews, secretary; June Kerr, chairman of social committee, and Fred Strickland, representative to student council.

Miss Parker, the adviser is a good model for the freshmen to follow. She is very conscientious and patient with all of the students.

Under her leadership, the Freshmen quickly learned to like their school and to look forward to the remainder of their school life with pleasure.

Student Council Enables Student to Voice Opinions

Successful During First Year of Organization

It is through the Student Council that the students may speak. What would the citizens do without a voice in the government of our great country and again what would the student body do without a voice in our modern school?

No more is it necessary for one to sneak into a dark cranny and say in an undertone to his fellow comrade, "Aw, I'd like to tell 'em what I think." To-day one may openly state his declaration through the student council.

The object of the club is to promote cooperation and better understanding between teacher and pupil and to encourage greater expression of rights.

The membership is limited to three Seniors, two Juniors, one Sophomore and one Freshman and Presidents of all classes and organizations. Meetings are held the first Monday of every month at which time matters in question are discussed.

This year the club has been organized for the first time and has selected the following as officers:

President.....	PHIL YEAGER
Vice-president.....	BILL EASTERBROOK
Sec.-Treas.....	ELEANOR MIELKE

Home Room Representatives to be Compared to House in National Government

Student government is a great and good thing. It has lately been stressed very much in American magazines and newspapers, for business men are beginning to realize the value of learning to take responsibility while still in school.

Certainly what has been so successful elsewhere can be in D. H. S. With this thought in mind the Student Council was made larger and more representative, and Home Room Representatives given more work. During 1931 and 1932 the members of the latter helped to advertise and support the Assembly Association Program Drive, they were guides and worked at the information desk at Night School.

Democracy! It can be had if the students support and back Home Room Representatives. In a few years D. H. S. should be a fully self-governing body. And we students must voice our appeals to the Home Room Representatives—to those who really represent—for they come in closer contact with students than the higher court.

However, nothing can be a success unless the students back it up. And until D. H. S. students prove that they can be self governing Home Room Representatives cannot work as they really should. So it's up to the students to back Home Room Representatives by proving to officials that they want self government.

Members of Home Room Representatives

Back Row: Melvin Putnam, Charles Marine, Ira Jones, Carroll Snyder, Will Allison, Bill Schaffer, George Trenary, John Kendrick, George Lemaire.

Turn time backwards until we reach the spring of 1904. We find the Faculty of Danville High School numbering ten and the seniors forty-six. A group of these seniors being rather forgetful mutually agreed that a memory book would be just the thing. Jesse E. Trueblood was chosen editor-in-chief. Hats off to him! Not being satisfied in a monetary way with subscriptions this ambitious class found time to present a play, "A Modern Ananias" to increase funds and fun.

The book itself is an attraction. From its stiff paper front (decorated with an etching) to the stiff paper back (undecorated) it is full of surprises for the modern youth. In the course of the sixty-four pages we find the usual and unusual. "Slush" takes all honors! The author certainly took his spite out on "the biggest feet, the worst liar, and the most conceited." But he gave no one the credit of "getting through High School honestly."

For twenty-eight years the Seniors have published a Medley. And now in 1932 as it again appears, we of the staff present something novel in its way, a book which we hope will establish a precedent throughout the State.

What tales of woe, error and puzzle they hear, and calmly they take the stern, steer the ship, straighten the sails and send it off aright.

As each staff from "dying hands throws the torch" to the following members, the same fire burns steadily

Three cheers for the advisers of publications. And they deserve it too. For it isn't a Sunday School picnic advising a group of students. Far be it from such!

It doesn't suffice to say "we owe our success to them." Indeed, we do, but we owe so much more than that. The memories of little things, forgiven, which will never be known to others are dear.

With the kindness of a parent, they point out the habits affecting our work, habits that will make our characters. By gentleness they make us love them, "not because they are rich and known to fame but because they are human and understand."

on in spite of the onslaught of a gale of new and untrained people.

But like a quintet of basketball players, with their supervisor they play the game. Giving their best, and no matter the score they fight to the last gun.

Hats off to Mr. Faulk, for without "Professor" the Maroon and White would be stranded.

Medley owes Mr. Bates more than can be put on paper. Mr. Hoggbin and Miss Keve also deserve a rousing cheer for the photography and art work for the Medley. And Miss Boyer gets a hearty handshake for helping with the writeups.

Mr. Duffin is supervisor of publications, and, although he is not required to do so, we think we often see his handiwork in print.

Maroon and White Wins Recognition in Two Contests

Although Smaller, the High Quality Has Been Maintained

The Maroon and White, along with every thing else has suffered the effects of the depression. Although the paper is smaller, the Staff has maintained the quality, upon which its reputation is based. As evidence of this fact, the paper won a Distinguished rating certificate, at the Illinois State High School Press Association, and third place classification in the Nation wide Journalistic contest, sponsored by Columbia University. This is the first year the Maroon and White has entered this contest, and the staff feels that they have made a good showing.

The most successful feature of the paper, the staff believes, is their wise-crack section. It was first tried in 1931, and has grown more popular every issue. There are eleven seniors graduating this year, who have enjoyed their work on this paper, and feel sorry that their work is at end, but they will be succeeded by the talented group now called the Cub Reporters.

Cub Reporters Publish February Issue of Maroon and White

They Look Forward for Positions on the Main Staff

Coach Faulk has been giving his sub team an excellent workout this year. In February the Cubs published an issue of Maroon and White without any advice from the experienced squad.

The Cub staff was created to give

Freshmen and Sophomores training for Main Staff work. This year is the first time they have ever had so much work to do. But with the spirit of "never say die" they tackled the job.

From time to time in regular issues the Cubs have turned in copies which has been very commendable work.

Orville Cole deserves much credit as a minor sports writer. Ruth Gillispie, Robert Wright and Irene Donner have been doing splendid work in news and editorials.

Cub work necessarily is harder than regular staff work in that the members receive no assignments, but must nose around and dig out their own stories. Even then, some other man may have covered the same territory and someone is out of luck. But reward comes in the end—a position on the Main Staff.

Brilliant Scholastic Standing Merits High Honor

"He must be smart. I wonder how it feels to be brilliant."

Such remarks are always heard when a member of the National Honor Society is under discussion. They are merited, too, because members are chosen for the four qualities of scholarship, service, leadership, and character.

Each member must have had a scholarship rating in the upper one-fourth of his graduating class all through his high school career.

He serves the school cheerfully and enthusiastically and does everything in his power to maintain her honor.

As a leader he combines the qualities of initiative, energy, and good judgment.

A good character is the final quality which he possesses. Character includes the following: meeting obligations promptly and completely; honesty; helping actively to rid the school of bad influences; discouraging gossip and prejudice; playing fair and being a good loser; respecting property rights; and affiliating with morally sound organizations.

These requirements make it a very high honor for a Danville High School student to be chosen a member of the society.

Students Serving Publications Have Chance for Honors

Quill and Scroll Recognizes Talent and Stimulates Effort

There are two things in history of which Quill and Scroll remind you. One is the old quills which our forefathers used in place of a modern fountain pen. As for the scroll, it is the common name for the old Roman books. However, to mention some historical facts does not indicate that this is a historical society. It is a national honorary society, organized for the purpose of promoting journalism among High School students.

The organization is a method of giving due recognition and honor to members who have achieved outstanding success in the field of high school publication work, or in the field of professional journalism, and to persons who have helped the cause of high school journalism.

Besides having a membership in the national organization, Danville High enters the work of some of its outstanding students in its yearly creative contest. This is one of the many activities that helps make Danville High a good school.

Since the Quill and Scroll is the only recognized organization in this field, it represents the highest honor that can come to a high school student.

"Making" Thespian

Twenty-four graduates of Danville High School wear the insignia of Thespian. It is the climax, the goal, the highest aim of every student possessing dramatic ability.

In May, 1929, Miss Miller applied for a charter. There were three charter members. Since then, twenty-one more have been elected.

To "make" Thespian: sift histrionic ability into the kettle of scholarship and stir continuously with the spoon of character. This mixture makes any student rightfully proud and serves to raise the standard of dramatics.

On to Higher Standards in Oratory

The little silver key of Forensic worn by only seven Danville High School students (one now in school) stands for honorable public speaking work. Behind it lies days and nights of study and preparation. The key itself has the eye of keen perception and the torch with an ever burning flame for knowledge on it.

In 1929 Miss Sandeson, eligible through her debate work, applied for a charter. Two students were charter members.

Dramatic Club Year an Outstanding Success

The Little Theatre

Did you know that D. H. S. has some future Barrymores among its present students? If you have seen any of the productions of the D. H. S. Players, better known as the Dramatic Club, you have seen some of them act.

The year for the Players was officially started on September twenty-first and twenty-third when the try-outs for girls and boys respectively were held. Applicants were selected for their speaking and acting ability.

This year the Club was divided into ten groups of six, each with student leader. Meetings were held every two weeks. Every other meeting was held in the auditorium, and one of the groups presented a one-act play for the entertainment of their fellow members.

The big event of the year was the comedy, "The Youngest," which was presented to the public on the night of February 19. It was thoroughly successful and one of the best ever produced in the history of the Dramatic Club.

Another presentation was the one-act play, "The Valiant", which was given in the assembly for the student body. It was especially interesting to the school because instead of being the usual comedy it was a serious drama.

The main social event of the Club is the spring picnic at which the announcement is made of the names of those who have been elected to the National Thespian Society.

This year the officers were:

President.....KATHARINE MCNEIL
Vice-President....PHIL YEAGER
Sec.-Treas......MARY JANE WALKER

Wrangling Along With the Wranglers

Ever since the creation of man there has been a fondness for arguing. As civilization has advanced many clubs have been made up solely for this purpose. So it has been with the Wranglers Club in D. H. S. This society, the second oldest club in the school, is very popular with those who wish to take up law as a profession in the future, or argue in their leisure time. The old tradition that women like to argue better than men has been broken down, as there has never been a girl president. And this year there are no girl members in this club. The reason for this has not been solved, but it is highly probable that they do not relish the idea of being defeated by the men.

If anyone wishes to learn how to run an organization correctly, it would be wise to join this wrangling crowd because they stress parliamentary law in every meeting.

Does another organization need any after-dinner speakers for some of their banquets? Many of the wranglers are very talented in this line. And as for getting acquainted with convicts, lawyers, judges and jurors—here is the very place to do so, because they have had a murder trial at all their meetings this year.

Oliver Marshall and all officers deserve much honor for a very successful year, with the aid of Miss Sanderson and Mr. Purkey. Thanks to them!

High School Band Plays Important Part at Athletic Contests

RUDY W. COOPER Old D. H. S. has boasted more shining faces at her athletic contests this year than she ever has before. The Grid-Iron benches and the hardwood bleachers have always been packed to capacity. However, how many loyal roosters paused in their crowing to consider how much the snappy tunes and inspiring marches of the Maroon band have livened the atmosphere of these games.

Every horn in the band and the fellow on the other end of it has done its part in building up the old D. H. S. spirit and producing the results Father Time has chalked up for us this year.

The show it puts on "out front" is not all of the band program. The fellows got together for good times among themselves. They pooled their musical interests in producing a series of Sunday afternoon Vesper concerts led by Mr. Rudy Cooper. They enjoyed fellowship at their practices, and at their social functions, climaxing their program at their annual "D" banquet, where letters were awarded.

The D. H. S. Band

Future Senior Band Develops in Junior Band

Did you ever stop to wonder what the Junior Band was, what was its purpose, and why we have such an organization at all? You haven't? Well then, we'll tell you all about it.

The Junior Band is a musical organization with the primary purpose of teaching the fundamentals of music and organized band playing, and for the advancement of aspiring young musicians into the Senior Band.

This band does not present any concerts or play as an organized group as does the Senior band, but nevertheless these boys really perform a worthwhile task. It is upon this body that the Senior Band depends mainly for its new members each year.

The organization is open to any student who is interested in or thinks that he might be interested in playing any type of band instrument. New members are always welcome to this band.

Many of the advantages of private lessons are obtained in the Junior Band. The band is under the able supervision of Mr. Rudy W. Cooper, and he takes an individual interest in each of the members. He is always willing to explain any points of music that these boys may wish to bring up.

Much of the success of the Senior Band is due to the Junior Band, because a boy may not enter the Senior Band from the Junior Band until he has been considered proficient enough by Mr. Cooper to play the music of the Senior Band.

The Junior Band is a regular class, meeting for practise one class hour each day throughout the year.

Girls' Glee Club Has Shown Ability in Year's Accomplishment

Women Singers Are Not Rare

Who claims that good women singers are rare?

To look at a group of about one hundred and thirty Glee Club Girls no one would ever ask this question. None

Miss LEGG of these girls know when they are taking Glee Club but what that someday they might become a prima donna.

The first piece of work accomplished this year was the Cantata, the "New Born King". Each year the music department presents a cantata. With the Cooperation of the Boys'

Glee Club they made this year's cantata an outstanding one. Real talent was shown.

No one would have thought that an operetta could have been made so beautiful until the two Glee Clubs presented "Pepita". Everyone who saw it will agree to that.

Each year Danville High School takes part in the Big Twelve Contest. This year thirty girls were sent to Lincoln where they made a fine showing. Several girls entered as soloists for both piano and singing.

Miss Legg strives to make singing enjoyable for the students, and to develop good sportsmanship. She also endeavors to teach a knowledge of the fundamentals of music and give assistance in individual solo work.

Girls' Glee Club

Organize and Be Democratic! is Cry of New Orpheus Club

One of the most important steps in organizations this year was promoted by the Boys' Glee Club when they combined their interests in organizing, forming a constitution and adopting the name of Orpheus.

Officers were elected to carry on the management of the club, the president acting as student director in the absence of Mr. Cooper.

Words are inadequate in expressing the high esteem which the boys have for Mr. Cooper's untiring efforts in furthering the idea of organizing.

This year being a very active one was crowned with the production of "Pepita" in conjunction with the Girls Glee Club.

Metronome Promotes D. H. S. Orchestra

"One, two, three, play!" "Let's hear the strings by themselves." "All right, all together now, play." If one should walk into Mr. Cooper's room fourth hour they would see and hear our Danville High School Orchestra.

"What do you do and learn in the orchestra?" an inquiring and doubting person asks.

"Many, many things", is the answer of a proud member of this orchestra. "All the students learn to tune their instruments. This may sound like a small matter but just ask one of them. Another thing is to obey orders, and follow the director. One learns to read different music at sight, and most of all, one learns to work with other people for their common good."

The orchestra was organized into a club this year under the name of "Metronome" (we set the pace). The metronome is a small instrument which you set at any time you wish and it clicks, helping the orchestra to keep time. This club took almost the same charter as the band. They did this so as to make themselves self-governing. This promotes self confidence and individual responsibility.

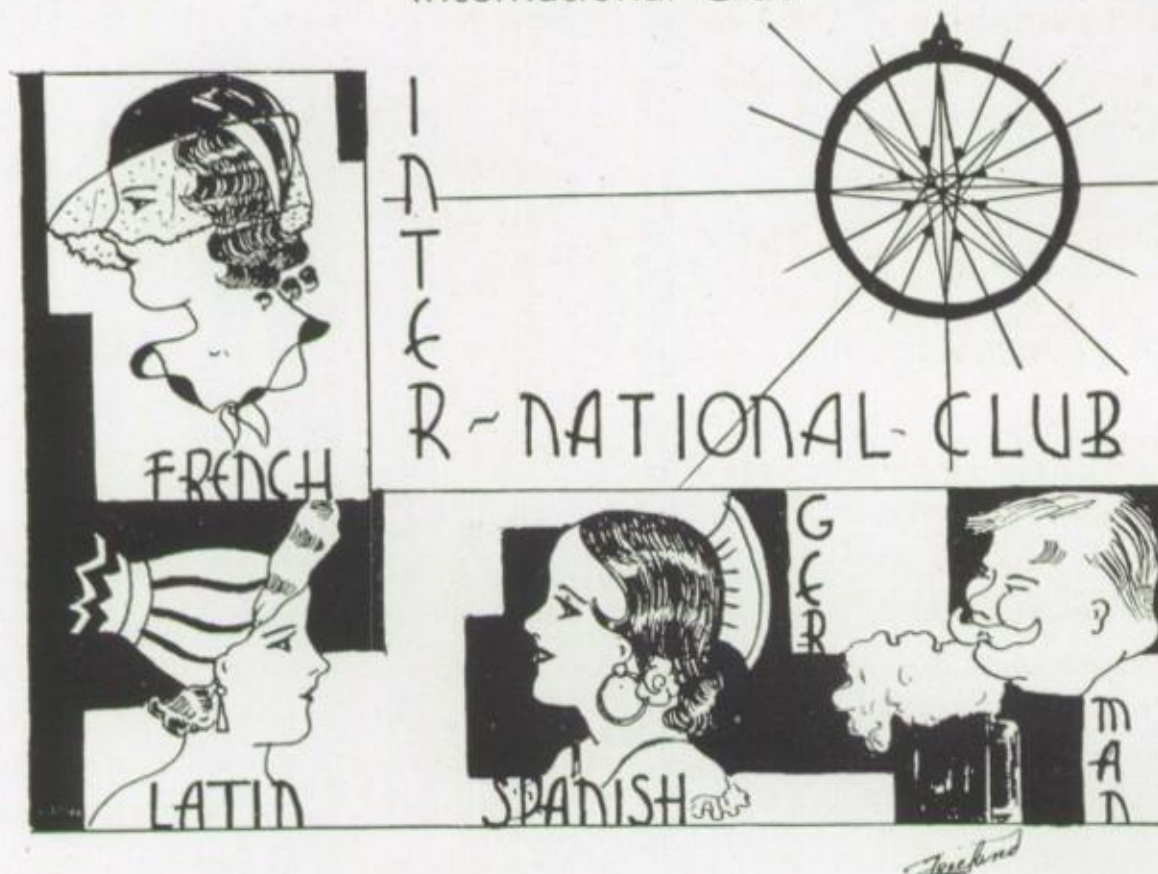

The orchestra plays every year for the Dramatic Club and Senior play. And it also accompanies the annual operettas. There is much work and preparation on this production before the final night. The orchestra deserves much credit for giving their time to so many social activities. This group of musicians owe much to Mr. Cooper's splendid direction.

Language Clubs Merge Into One Club

German, French, Spanish and Latin Groups Combine to Form International Club

Latin, French, Spanish and German—these are the languages that intermingle in the meetings of the International Club. Its meetings are not held in Geneva, Switzerland, as millions might be led to believe, but in old D. H. S. The members are not a group of foreigners with irregular shaped beards. They settle all their disagreements in different languages, thus no one person is able to understand the other one. This is the main factor of the club's existence. If you wish to go abroad and hire a foreign secretary, why not hire a member of this club? When in France, Kenneth Hennessey would be excellent, as he is chairman of the program committee for the French department. Hire Lois Cottingham when traveling in Greece; Charles Marine when in Spain; and Ruth Weidler when in Germany. These people mentioned are all the chairman of the program committees of their respective languages.

Thomas Viskniskki, president and a very clever diplomat, has been able to get along with people of all different nations.

The teachers of all the foreign languages are the advisers.

Tri-Colored Badge Symbolizes Girls' Club

"Everybody is a Friend" Used as the Theme for the Current Year in the Girls' Club

• Anchors Away! and the sturdy ship of the Girls' Club shoved off into the fathomless sea of success.

All of the year's accomplishments may be attributed to Eleanor Mielke and her faithful Girls' Club Student Body.

As the slogan implies every one wants to be and is your friend. The first thing that most girls want to do upon entering Danville High is to join the Girls' Club. There they are welcomed by girls who are planning for them—good times, activities, and ways in which a spirit of fellowship may be developed.

No girl has forgotten the day when she was first given her tri-colored badge and purpose card. When seeing a girl with a green, blue, and white badge, every one knows for what she stands. The blue in her badge is the emblem of truth. By truth we mean not only speaking true but all the traits of steadfastness and integrity that are the handmaids of truth—squareness, faithfulness, dependability, and loyalty. Green is for hope. By hope we mean cheerfulness and gaiety. White stands for purity. Just as all colors mingle and blend to give forth the ray of white, so all high thinking worthy standards and noble purposes unite and blend to make life ideal.

Just as the colors have blended, the student body of the Girls' Club have cooperated and enjoyed an unusually successful year. This is also due to the cooperation of both the members of the cabinet and the interest of the faculty advisers.

What girl feels more at home when she attends the bi-weekly meetings of the Girls' Club? At the beginning of the year a meeting is held for each girl to become acquainted and to be welcomed into the club. Here she is placed into a group who are planning good times for her throughout her school year. This year the club was divided into nine groups.

each having a name and a slogan, which have made these meetings exceptionally interesting. There is a prize given at the end of the year to the group presenting the best program and having the largest attendance. As there is much competition in this game every one enjoys working toward this goal.

Perhaps you wonder who sponsored the all school Christmas party, with the lovely decorations, the program, the dancing, and last but not least, the "eats". Of course it was the Girls' Club. To be more accurate, it was the social committee who made it successful. This committee takes care of all social functions of the club including the Spring Frolic in April. To do this there must be some financial means. The financial committee is very capable of this. It is they who are in charge of selling candy at the basketball and football games, and who conducts the Thanksgiving "mum sale".

Girls' Club Executives

The social service committee, as the name well implies, is at the service of every girl in the high school. It is they who provide lunches, books, clothing, and other supplies, for the needy girls of Danville High School. It is they who sponsored the Christmas party for two-hundred small children, each girl receiving a doll and each boy a toy.

Every girl remembers the time when she received her tri-color badge and purpose card.

The ceremony and introduction was made effective by the membership committee. They plan ways in which a spirit of fellowship may be developed that will last through her years in high school.

When joining the Girls' Club, every one joins aiming, "To gain and pass along the best things in life."

Every girl in high school is welcome in the society. When she learns its language, symbols, and code, she will bring others into the club with her.

Boosters Further Enthusiasm in School Activities

Rah! Rah! Rah!
Skinny Wow! Wow!
Danville! Yea!

Just a few shouting words that might be heard by anyone attending a basketball game.

What would a school be without boosters? It is they who put pep into the games. Not only doing this, but creating enthusiasm among other students, for all activities.

Booster Club Officers

The club was first organized in 1924 and was made up of boys who promoted the different activities of the school. They, feeling the need of both girls and boys, reorganized in 1927 limiting their membership. Although their membership is limited much enthusiasm has been shown. They now preside, with a girl and boy president alternating over the meetings. The club divided into teams show much in competition in selling tickets and other projects.

The Booster club has accomplished outstanding work this year. They had programs printed for the games which is something that has never been done before in our school. This proved satisfactory to everyone. Before the games several banquets were held to get into the right spirit. In the fall everyone seems to be having wiener roasts, so in keeping with the times the Boosters also had a wiener roast. A treasure hunt was quite the proper thing to combine with it because it is fun to find a treasure.

Miss Payne and Mr. Schoolcraft have been faithful workers among the Boosters in order that they may be successful in their year's work.

All Boosters cooperate to promote activities, propagate good sportsmanship, and further the interests of the school.

They Never Meet Unless Supper is Served

Hi-Y Officers

EARL CHAMBERS.....	Chairman of Social Committee
CARROLL SNYDER.....	President
BOB CANADY.....	Chairman Membership Committee
DAN WOOD.....	Chairman Food Committee

On any Wednesday evening at six o'clock during the school year an interesting sight may be seen by a person entering the room of the Y. M. C. A. Although it is not in the constitution we believe that there must be some kind of an unwritten law to that effect, because these boys seem unable to have a meeting unless supper is served.

Eating is not the only important part of their meetings, so to make them successful each committee must do its part. The social committee, with Earl Chambers as chairman, meets once a month to arrange the nature of the entertainment for the coming events. The program committee, with Ben Jewell as chairman, plans the program for all meetings.

Its main duty is to engage a prominent man to be the speaker of the evening. Dan Wood has the responsibility of securing one of the boy's mothers to cook the food for each meeting. There is one committee left that has little to do with the meetings directly. This is the membership committee with Bob Canady as chairman. Its work is to bring in new members to continue their work and service.

To show you the nature of their meetings we shall tell of the Christmas party. Since school dismissed early on Wednesday, December the twenty-third, the boys met at the "Y", before dinner, for athletic contests on the basketball floor and in the swimming pool. The main feature of the evening was a talk on a subject relating to Christmas by Reverend Ewing of the St. James M. E. Church. Then everyone participated in a ten cent gift exchange as the social hour.

The Hi-Y boys are interested in seeing its service and its influence continue to grow.

"Life Like a Garden" Symbolizes An Ideal Girl Reserve

"Face life squarely", is the ideal of the Girl Reserves. Due respect is accorded this creed by all girls.

The club was first organized as a part of the Girls' Club, members of the cabinet and executives having exclusive right to belong. In 1926 when the membership of both clubs became too large, they divided into two separate organizations, one being the Girl Reserves.

The theme chosen for this year is, "Garden Compared to the Life of a Typical Girl Reserve."

The initial activity was a picnic at the "Bungalow", a well known haunt for all the girls.

Some of the outstanding events that made up the entertaining programs and activities of the past year were the Girl Reserve and Hi-Y Stunt Show, an annual and very entertaining feature; the Mother and Daughter Tea; the Christmas charity work; and the club banquets.

"Let an idea catch hold of a man's mind and no one can tell to what it may lead."

And so it was true of a thought of four or five boys in 1919 that lead to our present day Science Club. These boys, interested in the Scientific world met in an office down-town and discussed their topics.

The group, believing that a club could be organized in the school, proved its belief. They then met in the Science laboratory of the old building for the first year as a High School activity. Both boys and girls became members and they elected officers. Elmer Lynch was the first president. They discussed important topics of the day of interest to persons who were in touch with the advance of new ideas along scientific lines. Jack Aaron Smith was the first member of the faculty to sponsor the club. He made these meetings very interesting as well as educational.

In common with other organizations of the school, the need of the Science Club was felt. With this feeling they re-organized after an absence of three years with Walter Stellner as their president.

Like Science itself, one result has followed another. The success of its basic ideas has opened year after year, and new avenues for its development have advanced the possibilities of its achievement. True to this we now have a prosperous club.

The Science Club of Danville High School is recognized as the oldest in state of Illinois. It now belongs to the Junior Academy of Science and affiliated with the Illinois Academy of Science.

In keeping with its past growing years the club holds its meetings the first and third Thursday of every month. The attendance of these meetings prove to the school that science is an important activity. They welcome all students who are interested in this line.

Who knows? Maybe someday a present member of The Danville Society will present to the world a theory greater than Einstein's?

Artists Show Ability in Year's Work

Clever Objects Were Completed by Art Club

Don't you envy all the talent in this single organization, artists of all kinds producing sketchings, etchings, sculpturings, and paintings of many varieties? Everyone enjoys going into the Art room and looking at the exhibitions. The best of all is recognizing the people that pose for the pictures.

Soap sculpturers try all kinds of experiments; some are successful—some aren't. But their motto is "if you don't succeed the first time, try and try again."

If you take Art you get to make silver bracelets. And most of the boys made bracelets too, so we can imagine that many girls were made happy after the completion of that project.

There are a lot of privileges belonging to a member of the Art Club. They went on a sketching party out by the lake, and it was reported that there was more swimming than sketching carried on. They also served a tea to their members and all the faculty. One of the most interesting talks was given by Miss Thompson who told of her travels abroad. They also had a very interesting Christmas program. Their meetings are held the last Thursday in each month.

These people give much of their time to drawing and making designs for the publications of the Medley. They are responsible for printing some of the names under pictures. All the modernistic pictures have been drawn by one of the members of the Art Staff.

They make posters for the Dramatic and Senior plays, and also for the Operetta.

Norma DeWeese and her cabinet have made a very successful executive group for this organization, with the help of their advisors, Miss Keve and Miss Snider.

Bulletin Boards Liven Up Library

Student Committee Makes Colorful Exhibits

The aim of the library student committee is to act as representatives between the various departments of the school and the library. The colorful exhibits are both interesting and educational. The students contribute their pictures and posters to exhibit. Not only the students, but also the teachers hand in their contributions both from their own collection and from papers handed in by their pupils.

The committee is composed of eleven members, one representing each department and under the supervision of Miss French, librarian.

Much credit should be given to the students who give their time and pleasure in making the boards more attractive, in advertising the library, so as to make it an integral part of the school.

many entries who wish to become student assistants in the library. The selection is based upon scholarship, interest and adaptability. At first a doubt enters their mind wondering if they can ever acquire all of the knowledge that they should have about a library. But after a year of skillful training by Miss French they have a huge store of this specific material. After the girls have completed their instruction they are assigned practice work in the library, thus during their entire year they are being trained for their library duties as library student assistants when they are seniors.

The library student assistants have a real part in making and maintaining the efficient way in which the library serves the school as a whole.

Spring Influences Love Lyricists

"In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns—" (also a young woman's). And so it was that certain English 2 students under Miss Boyer became afflicted in the spring of 1930, and began to compose lyrics. This age-old custom soon developed into the Worth While Writers' Club.

But when winter came, the literary aspirants gave up these love lyrics and turned to better subjects. Lively round table discussions on prominent men and women of the literary fields—Vachel Lindsay, Robert Frost, Willa Cather—programs, and what not filled the bill and incidently resulted in earnest endeavor toward better writing.

So much for that—now for the technical side. The constitution and by-laws open membership to any English 1, 2, 3 or 4 student if he submits to a committee some original prose writing or a group of three poems which is acceptable.

The Kind of a Friend I Want

FRANCES MCCORMICK

I want a comrade willing to be
In all sorts of trouble, near to me,
Someone to walk Life's roughest road,
Who has pity for even the meanest
toad,

Someone to share my grief and care
Someone to help me my burdens bear.
I want a pal who is able to smile,
Someone who laughs when worries pile.

I want a friend who is good and kind,
And such a friend is hard to find.
Somewhere along this travel-worn way

I may find a fellow who likes to play,
A person who loves
to laugh and sing
And happiness to others can bring.

Somewhere I hope to find a friend

Who has a helping hand to lend.

A friend who loves to come and go
Without a thought of idle show.

I want a friend who laughs and plays,
And such a friend is scarce these days.

Girls Trained Socially by Home Economics Club

Foods, Clothing and Home Management Classes Are Represented

Fellows, if you want a girl who can cook and sew and take care of your house, choose a member of the Home Economics Club. They are experts in that line.

The purpose of the club is to add interest to home economics and to encourage a spirit of helpfulness and friendship among students and between students and teachers. The members wish to help students fit into their social groups by gaining a sense of responsibility, and to increase the opportunity for development of leadership, cooperation and initiative. Their aim is to spread a spirit of friendliness.

This year they have endeavored to develop the social amenities. To do this they have practised such things as introductions at their meetings. In this way poise is achieved and a sense of ease for any social occasion is given.

This is the third year for the Home Economics Club. It was first organized in 1930.

Membership is open to any girl taking foods, clothing, or home management. Six meetings are held during the year. Refreshments for these meetings are prepared and served by the foods classes.

This year's officers are the following girls:

It is a club for the colored girls of the school, and they all take a very active interest in it.

Through the kindness of the Federated Colored Women's Club of Danville they have had an attractive meeting place at their club house. They held several social gatherings there. One of these was a Thanksgiving banquet which every one enjoyed immensely.

All the topics for the meetings are

The attendance this year has been unusually good, as many as sixty attending many times. It is the only club of its kind in Danville High School and so draws a large membership. It has been very successful this year under the leadership of the following officers:

Ned Whitesell Makes Debut as Athletic Director at D. H. S.

MR. WHITESELL

Mr. Ned Whitesell came to D. H. S. this year as Athletic Director from Illinois Wesleyan University at Blomington. His pleasing personality coupled with his ability to teach his proteges the principles of athletics certainly has won him a place in the hearts of students, athletes, and followers of Danville's athletics.

With his first year as athletic director of Danville High nearly completed there is little doubt as to the future success of his athletic teams. We're wishing Mr. Whitesell the best of luck and unlimited success to his boys.

Assistant Coach a Former Football Star of Danville High

"Ernie" Firebaugh as he is known by everyone in the school is completing his second year as Assistant Coach. Mr. Firebaugh knows his football and puts his remarks into practice as he dons a gridiron suit and steps right out with the boys and shows them how it is done.

"Ernie" was a former football star at D. H. S. himself and he puts that much more into his work as he wants the Alma Mater to put out a winning aggregation.

As an aid to Mr. Whitesell he has helped in developing our basketball teams and other athletic teams in school.

D. H. S. can thank the Boys' Athletic Association to a great extent for the well lighted gridiron the Maroon's now possess.

The B. A. A. does many things to aid in the procuring of such equipments, as the lights for the gridiron, and this is just one example of the work they do.

The B. A. A. aids in the advertising of all athletic contests and through their efforts large crowds appeared this last season.

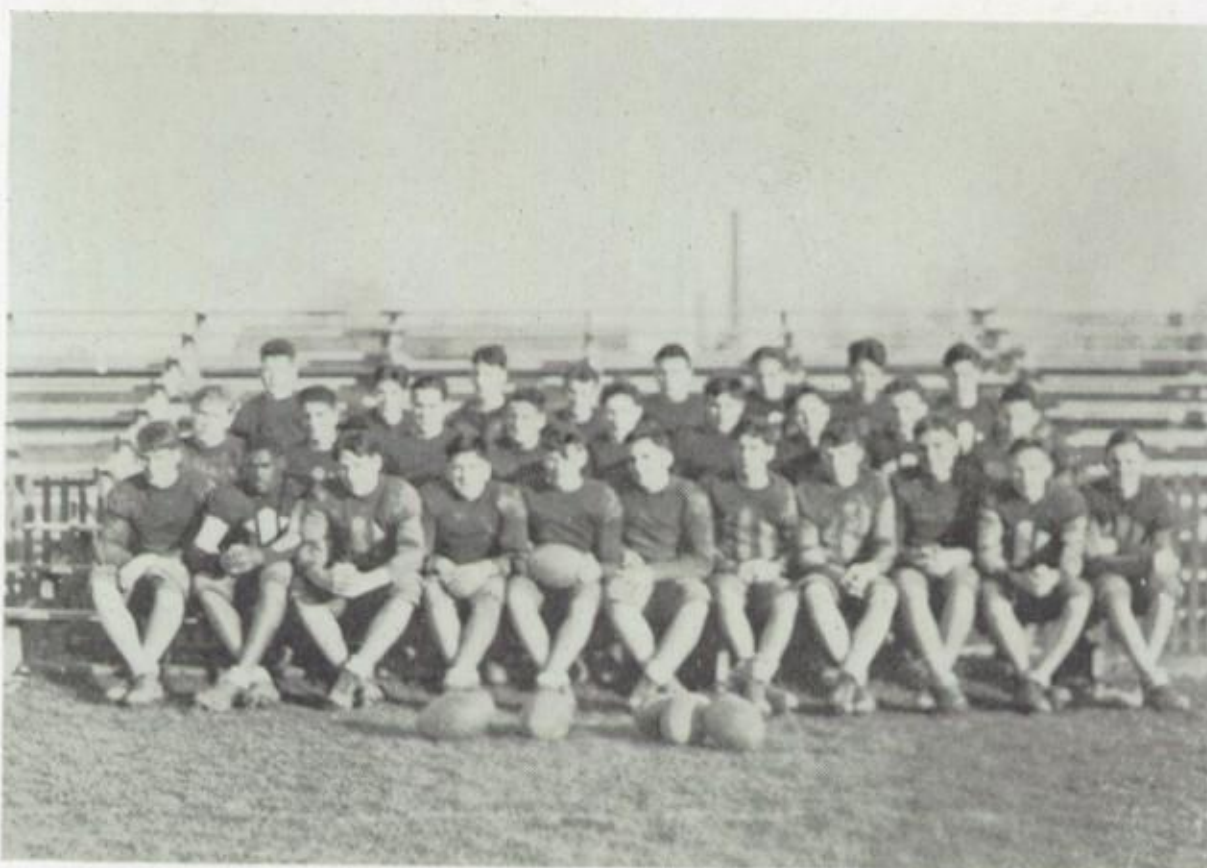

The B. A. A. also cooperates with the "D" Association in aiding officials of the basketball tournaments.

This association is made up of all boys in school interested in sports and in extending and maintaining good sportsmanship.

Three thousand howling, cheering fans in the stadium, great flood lights on both sides of the field lighting up the gridiron as if it were bright daylight, a new face in the ranks of the coaching personnel and such was the sight for the eleven boys who started the game against Kankakee on D. H. S.'s newly lighted football field September 25.

However, the change must have been too much for the home team as Danville High's greatest upstate rival, Kankakee, returned home victorious 13 to 7. Rockstroh played a great game at quarterback for the Maroons while McIntosh put across Danville High's only tally of the evening after the Whitesellmen had recovered a fumble deep in Kankakee territory.

Though the lads didn't come through with a win, they showed much power and ability at handling the ball and gave promise of furnishing plenty of competition for future opponents.

On October 2 the setting was much the same except the Maroons were better acquainted with the Whitesell system, and Streator High was furnishing the opposition. The Maroons came through with a wonderful exhibition of football and presented real scrap and fight from beginning to end. As a result the team came off the field with a 13 to 0 victory to give D. H. S. its first conference victory in several seasons.

Whitesell, the New Coach, Guides

After this fine showing on the home field the team traveled to Pekin only to receive a 13 to 7 setback due mostly to the over-confidence of the squad. The Whitesell lads were completely outclassed in the first half but in the last period their showing was much better, but the lead gained by the Pekinites was too much to overcome so the boys had to be content to return with a defeat. The next week end Coach "Peanuts" Shultz's Mattoon gridders gave the Maroons another setback to the tune of 19 to 6 on the evening of October 23. Sullivan, of Mattoon, came through with two touchdowns to lead the Green Wave in their conquest of D. H. S.

Gay Kintner then brought his Decatur preps to the home of the Maroons the next week end. The Decatur outfit outweighed the home club by at least fifteen pounds per man. The Whitesellmen gave the Kintnerites a real scrap for the first half but due to the heavier boys' advantage they made three touchdowns in the last half to defeat the Maroons by a 22 to 0 score.

The evening of November 6 brought Danville High and their old rival, Champaign, together. After a thrilling encounter in which both teams scored, as the three thousand fans in the stadium yelled themselves hoarse, the final gun barked out with the score deadlocked at 7 all. Both elevens were throwing passes desperately in an attempt to score at the end. Although Danville High did not emerge on top, it was a moral victory for the Maroons, as it was the first time they had come this close to defeating the Twin-cities crew in several seasons.

On the following week end D. H. S. traveled over to Urbana to battle the Conference leaders. The playing field was a sea of mud with a few miniature lakes here and there. After several of the lads had nearly drowned in the muck, Urbana swam across the goal line three times to give them an 18 to 0 victory. If the Maroons had inserted a few of the swimming squad members they may have given a better account of themselves.

With the 'Thanksgiving Day game a week and a half off, Whitesell, Firebaugh, and the squad set to work to end the season with a victory. The Maroons marched down the field for two touchdowns before Marshall High of Chicago, who was supposed to be furnishing the opposition even had the ball in their possession. It was a great day for the "Old Alma Mater" with McIntosh playing his last game for D. H. S. scoring two touchdowns Rockstroh scoring one and Pleschner putting across the

It was the last game for Captain Helck, who played a great game; also the last for Keeslar, Songer, Pleschner, and McIntosh. Two reserves Chittick and Vogt also closed their athletic career in this game. All the seniors played a wonderful game, supported excellently by the underclassmen to close their careers in a blaze of glory.

Losing only five lettermen through graduation, Coach Whitesell has very high hopes of putting a winning combination upon the field next year.

Freshmen-Sophomores Take to Gridiron

Danville High was also represented upon the gridiron this last year by a Freshman - Sophomore gridiron team. Though not so successful in their early season games they fought their opposing teams to a standstill the latter part of the campaign. The underclassmen's team took on Kankakee twice only to be defeated by them both times. Urbana was encountered in a night game on Champaign field as an eye opener to a varsity clash. The Maroons showed power at times but the Twin-Cities outfit finally gained a comfortable lead on the Bandy-coached eleven. Urbana was again encountered later on in the season on the field of the Maroon team. The game was very exciting throughout, being one of the best the Freshman-Sophomore team had played all year. Neither team was able to work the ball down into the scoring area although the Urbana eleven threatened to tally several times they did not display that added punch that it takes to put the ball across the goal.

Those fellows who go out for the Freshman-Sophomore team are to be complimented for their pluck. They go out every night and several nights a week take on the varsity team in a scrimmage which is not so pleasing for the lads on the team, as they are much lighter and less experienced than the varsity team. As a consequence they suffer many bruises and knocks that some of us would never think of taking just for the sport of it. We should all praise these boys on their courage and fight as they are the makings of future teams.

Dodd is Outstanding Cross-Country Man in 1931

Captain Jack Dodd was the cream of the 1931 cross-country squad. Through his efforts and the other lettermen on the team it was possible for the Maroons to keep up the high standard D. H. S. has set up in this sport. The team participating in five meets, Dodd was able to breast the tape first in four of these encounters. A remarkable record for any individual. And even though the team did not always place first in all the meets Dodd always came through.

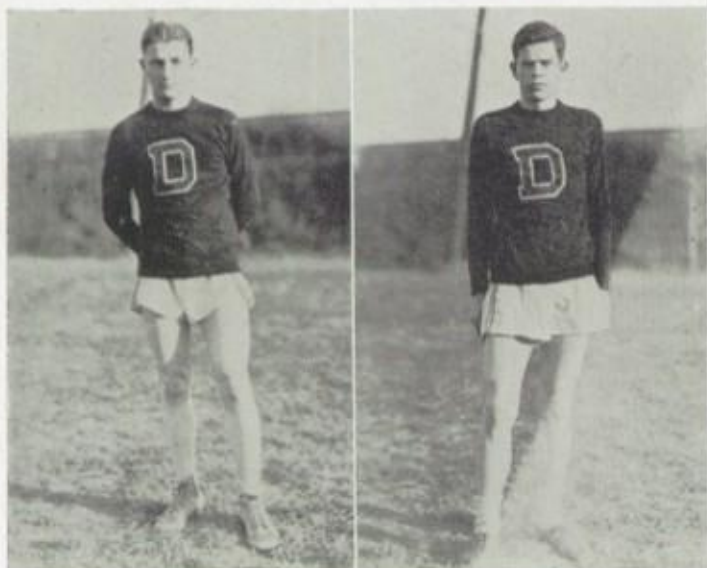

Next year Captain-elect Selsor, Young and Stine will carry the hopes of the Danville Harrier squad through the 1932 campaign.

Night Cross-Country Makes Debut in Maroon Camp

With nothing in front of them but darkness, sometimes running in a drizzling rain, and always putting forth more effort, lest they should get off the right course, the Maroon clad harriers finished their first season of night cross-country. These meets, run in conjunction with the conference football games, proved popular and amusing to the excited spectators.

For the benefit of the runners, most of the meets were run on the field tracks instead of the regular cross-country courses. However, the regular courses were run at Pekin and Mattoon, the Pekin meet being in the daylight. At Mattoon the meet was run at night with only the aid of the headlights of a following automobile.

Of the six meets in which the Maroons participated, four of which were after supper contests, two were won and four lost.

Captain Jack Dodd, the old reliable of the D. H. S. runners seemed to adapt himself quickly to this night life, as he finished first in every night meet.

Incidentally, this is the first time in recent years that five major letters have been awarded to cross-country aspirants.

Jimmy Selsor, a Junior, is the captain-elect for 1932. He will have a good supporting cast next campaign, as two other letter winners and a flick of reserves will be available.

Maroons Play Before Large Crowds

The longest grind of all athletics began when Coach Whitesell issued a call for all Maroon basketball men to report for practice November 1. After a short drill in fundamentals, an intramural tournament was started. Northwestern, Captained by Bob Burrow sailed through the tournament without a defeat and were awarded the Championship.

The close of football season brought many more boys out for practice. The opening squad contained nearly 150 boys, the largest squad ever to report for any one sport at D. H. S. Coach Whitesell soon trimmed the squad down and with only four nights of practice Captain Burow and Ernie Pleschner led the Maroons to their first win of the season over Chrisman by an 18 to 12 count.

For seven years Coach Harrison has brought his Kankakee netters to the Maroon camp and never once has he been victorious. The upstaters were really determined to win this game and after trailing throughout the contest Captain Lang of Kankakee scored a long basket just as the gun went off to give the upstaters a 15 to 14 decision. Then came a long trip to Streator on which trip the bus broke down and the Maroons were overcome with much misfortune before they finally arrived, about the middle of the night, to play one of the best teams in the state.

Basketball

Tired and weary after eight hours on the road the lads went into the game with plenty of fight and left the floor at the end of the half holding a 9 to 8 advantage, but as the 3rd crashed through with their first win of the season.

After their first conference victory stored away the Maroons traveled to Mattoon to play Coach Shultz's net-quarter got under way the Whitesell team began to feel the effects of the long ride and the Streator five out-scored them 10 to 3 in the last half to gain the victory 18 to 12.

Coach Moyer of Champaign thought his boys would have an easy game with the Maroons after Kankakee and Streator had defeated them. The game started out to be a runaway for Champaign but in the fourth quarter with but eight minutes to go and Champaign holding a 19 to 9 advantage the Maroon aggregation led by Ed Burow and Ernie Pleschner began to sink baskets from all positions on the floor. Soon the Maroons tied the score then forged ahead to win the game 21 to 19.

To complete the evening's entertainment the Maroon reserve team ters. Due to ill-fated luck the bus broke down which contributed indirectly to the defeat. The reserve team also lost their encounter to the Downstaters.

Two of the greatest rivals in the state met when the Maroons journeyed to Urbana for their annual engagement. After thirty-two minutes of fast basketball the score was tied at 14 all. Then came the heart-breaking overtime in which an Urbana man was able to break away to sink the winning basket for his team. Following the varsity clash Coach Whitesell sent his reserves on the floor to play the Urbana scrubs.

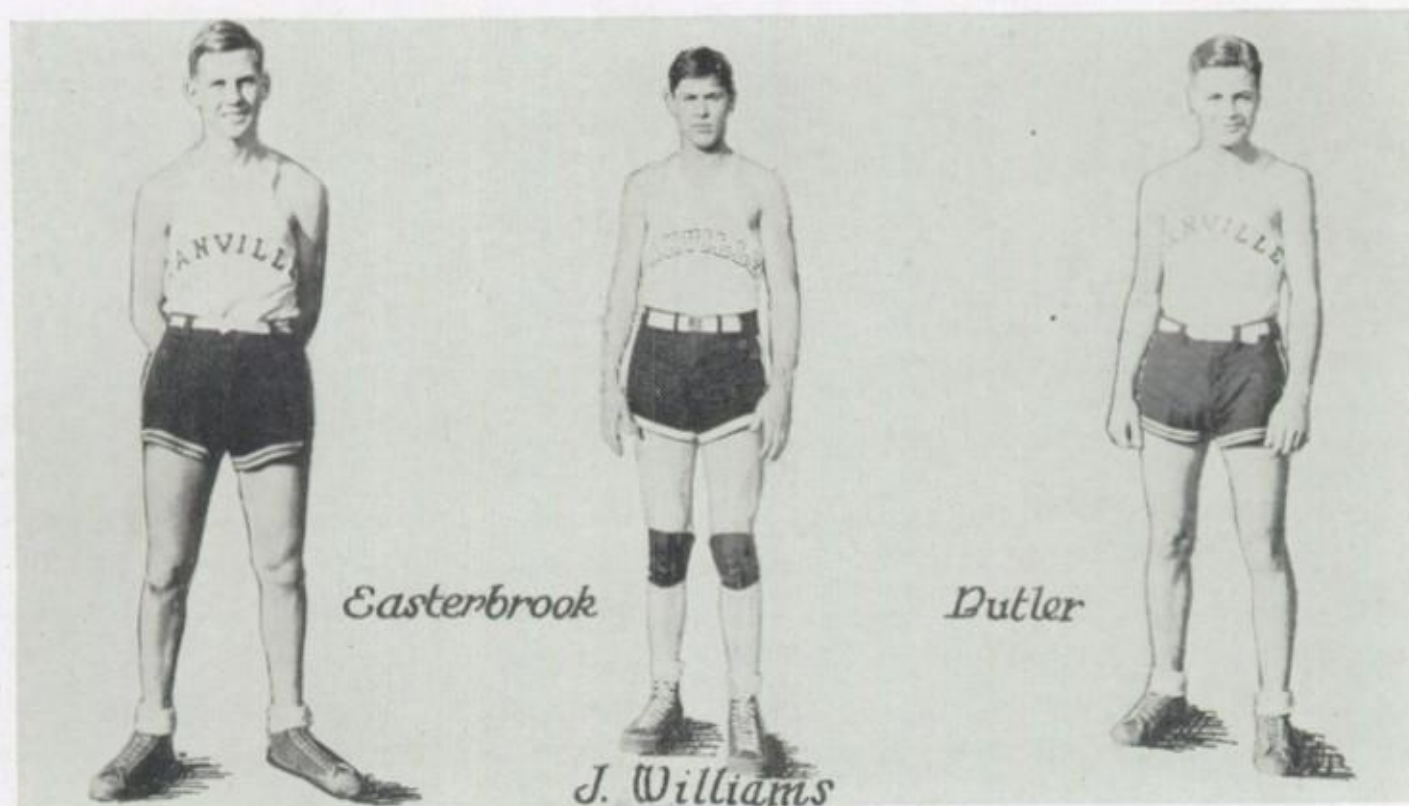

Danville left for Decatur after the Urbana game for an all night trip. It seemed as though the long trip tired the Maroons and they just couldn't get going. Last year's state champions completely outclassed the Maroons, handing them a 23 to 11 licking.

Capt. Bob Burow and Ernie Pleschner ended their brilliant careers for the strong Mattoon team. For the first time this year the Maroons won a close game by defeating the Southern team to the tune of 15 to 14. Being held almost scoreless since the Cham-

the Maroons when they led the team to a victory over Watseka. The northern invaders had an eight point lead at the half. The Maroons then got to clicking and it was too bad for Watseka. The final score being 26 to 18 in favor of the Whitesellmen. Ernie Pleschner coming through with 8 points and Captain Bob Burow tallying 6.

The Maroon reserves also came through with a victory defeating the Watseka scrubs 19 to 8 to give the home folks a real treat.

Jim Williams, star forward on last year's team greeted the Maroons at the beginning of the new semester. Starting a new combination, the Whitesellmen all but defeated the strong Decatur team. The Maroons losing another one of those one point games by trailing the Decatur outfit 15 to 14.

After a hard week of practice Coach Whitesell sent his boys against Champaign game Ed Burow snapped out of his slump by scoring twelve of the Maroons twenty-one points to lead them to a 21 to 17 victory over Kankakee. The reserves lost another one of those one point games as Kankakee seconds defeated them in an overtime 16 to 15.

Champaign gave Danville her worst defeat of the year by handing them a 47 to 25 trouncing. Jim Williams, with eleven points seemed to be the only Maroon who could hit the basket. Coach Whitesell made various substitutions trying to find a winning combination or one that could at least stop the Champaign onslaught, but all was in vain as the Champaign crew just couldn't be throttled.

Mentor Whitesell was greeted by an old schoolmate when "Frenchy" Haussler brought his Pekin boys to invade the Maroon camp. The Maroon aggregation were entirely off form.

Basketball

Not even once did the offense get going as it should, accounting for the Maroon setback. The game finally ending 18 to 17 in favor of the Pekinites.

Fred Butler, the only senior on this year's squad completed his Conference basketball career against Urbana February 25. The Twin-city lads proved too much for the Maroon aggregation and they went down in defeat by a 22 to 9 score. The Maroon reserves lost a close and exciting curtain-raiser when the Urbana reserves came from behind in the last few minutes of play to snatch the victory from the Whitesellmen by a 23 to 22 score.

The annual District Tournament got under way March 8, and for the first time in years the Maroons were eliminated in their first game. Rossville put the Maroons out of the running the first evening by handing the lads a 20 to 16 setback after the Maroon quintet seemingly had the game fairly well sewed up.

Jim Williams led the Maroon offensive however garnering 11 of the Maroon points.

Fred Butler being the only letterman lost through graduation Coach Whitesell is expecting to have a real scrappy aggressive team next campaign.

Along with this year's lettermen the freshman-sophomore team will be sending many good players up to the varsity squad.

For the first time in many years the Freshman-Sophomore team went through a regular schedule of games. This is a very good plan as it teaches the younger boys in school, who would not have a chance of getting on the varsity team, the game, so that when the varsity men graduate there are capable lads ready to take their place

Swimmers on your marks. Bang! The gun goes off, and Danville has started her swimming season by taking Kankakee into camp. In the same manner Danville's swimming squad took first in all their dual meets during the ensuing campaign.

However the team lost two valuable men at the end of the first semester, Captain Chittick and Hendrich. These boys were sadly missed but their places were taken by two men who proved to be capable of the task.

Captain Jewell, as conference champion back-stroker for the last two years, has been one of the mainstays

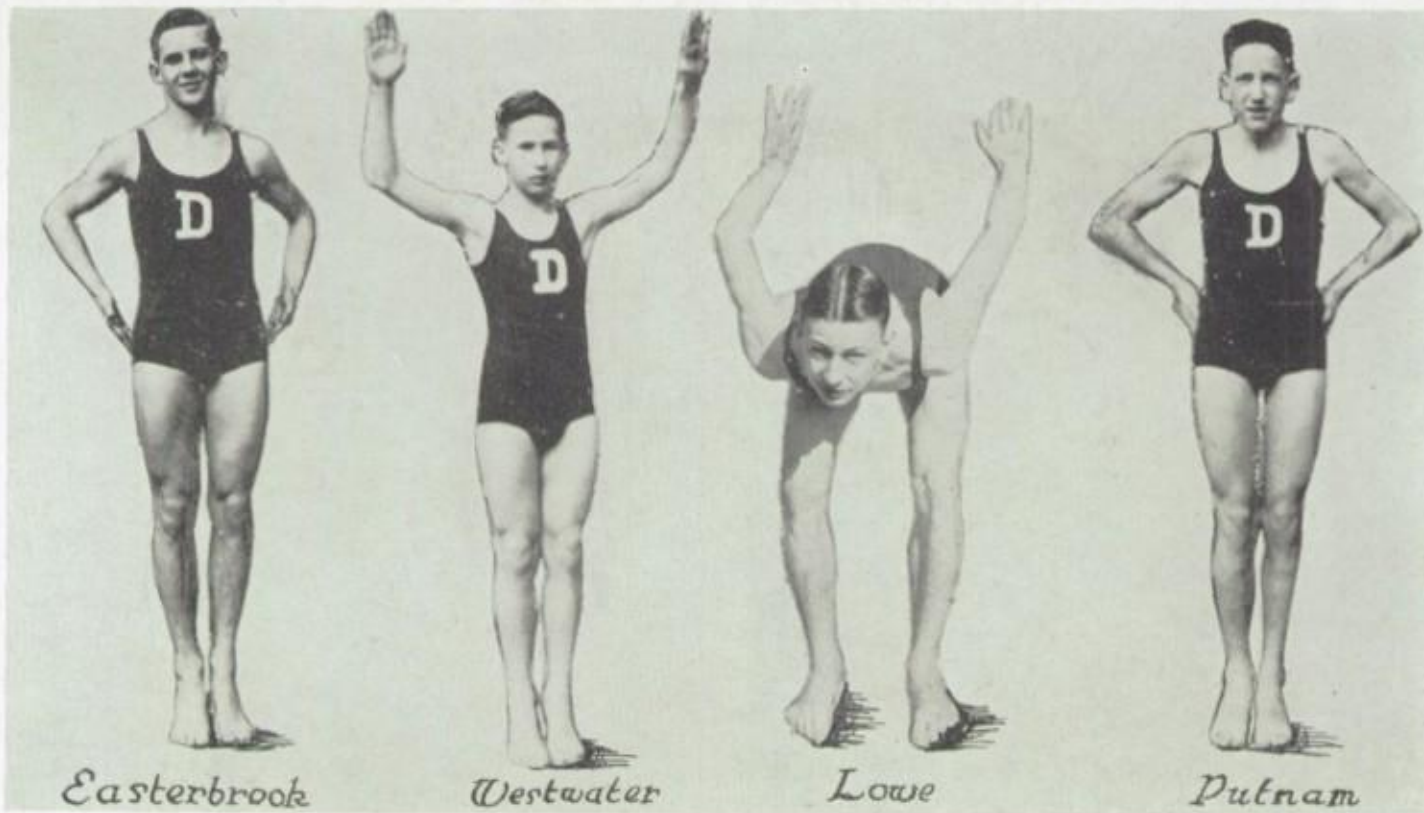

Snyder

Capt. Jewell

Mauck

Swimming

of the team. He swims on the relay teams and has set a new backstroke record each year. This year he lowered the record to 1 minute and 8.9 seconds for the 100. Benson has been with the team for three years and will have another semester next year to swim.

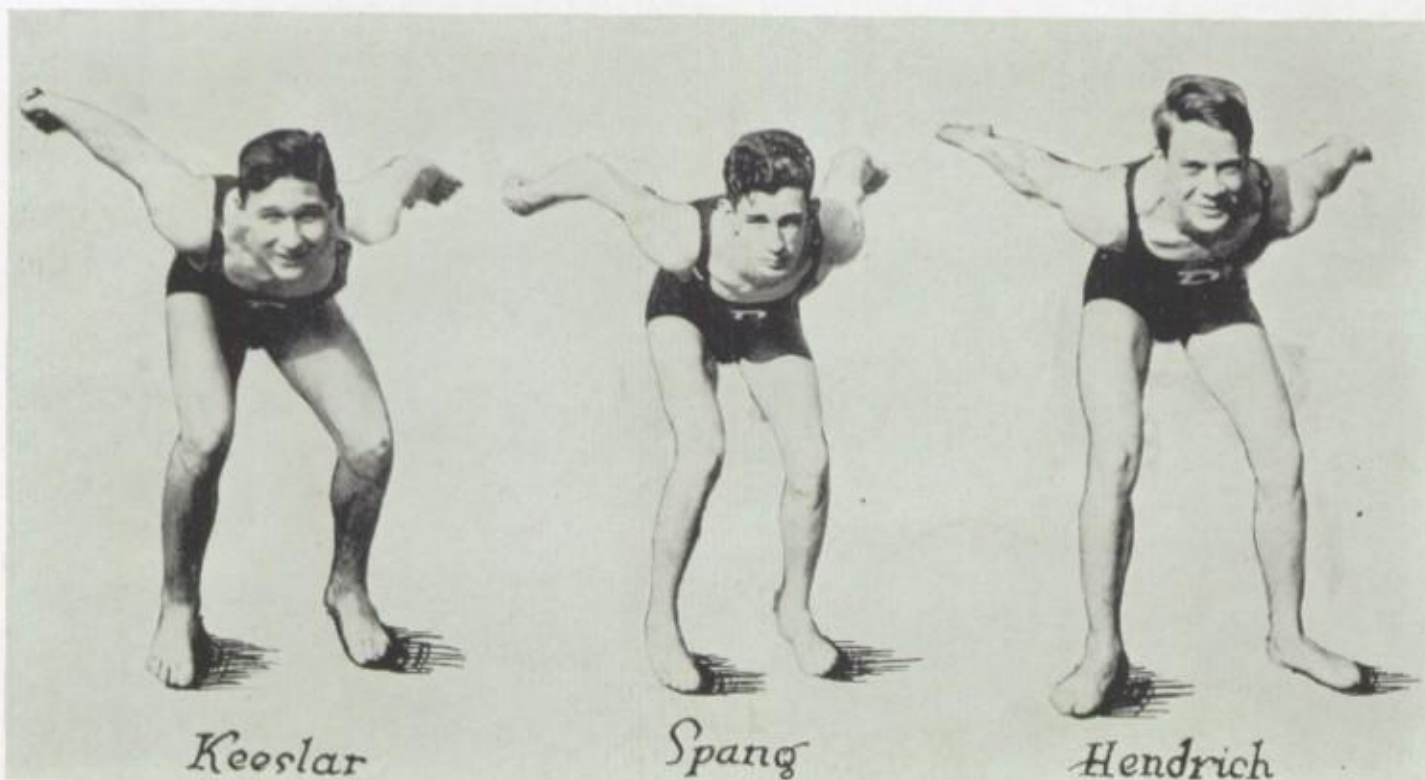

Eugene Mauck, also a back-stroke swimmer, placed second in the conference coming a close second to Jewell. Mauck swims on the 160 yard relay team and has helped out very much.

Holding down the 100 yard free style are George Lowe and "Spud" Snyder. These men also swim the 40 yard dash, and are on the relay teams. George Lowe won the 100 yard dash in the conference with Snyder second. Keeslar also a free style man, has given the team much help.

The breast stroke is taken care of by Spang, Easterbrook, and Ingle. Easterbrook has not seen much action this year because he has played on the basketball team. Ingle is but a Freshman, and much is expected from him in years to come.

Easterbrook and Putnam held down the fancy diving end of the team, with Westwater helping out.

Swimming

"Abe" Winters who did not swim with the team until the latter part of the season was on the winning relay team in the conference and thus earned his letter.

CONFERENCE MEET

Splash, splash, splash, with sure steady strokes the last man on Danville's Medley Relay Team comes shooting to the finish far in the lead of the opposing teams. As he touches the end, it looks as if history is repeating itself. It seems as if Danville is again the Big 12 Champions. But, no! The judge declares our relay team disqualified due to a faulty stroke of our breast stroke man. And thus was broken a series of records that will not be surpassed by a Big 12 school for many years to come.

In this meet at Streator, Danville's loyal sons were matched against the best swimmers from the other schools in the Big Twelve, and as before, won many of the events. In the 160 yard relay Danville came in first and placed first in the Medley, but were disqualified. In the backstroke we placed first and second, establishing a new record. In the 40 yard dash we did not place a man, but in the 100 yard dash we took another first and second. In the breast stroke and diving we did not do as well taking a fourth in diving and were disqualified in the breast stroke.

With this defeat Danville lost its first conference title in eight years. With the addition of the one cup of this year to the seventeen already won by other teams the team has closed the 1931-32 season.

This up and coming sport was just introduced this last year under the tutelage of Mr. Bandy of the Physical Education Department. Although the team lost both of their meets by very close scores they are expecting to make a better account of themselves as time goes by.

Interclass day rolled around on April 12, with Messrs. Bandy and Harms, the coaches, ready to spot out their hopefuls for the approaching season. The Juniors ran off with the meet, scoring over half of the possible points. McIntosh was their main threat gathering several firsts and placing in many events. Other fellows showing promise were Pleschner, Rockstroh, and Vogt.

The next week the team traveled to Urbana to participate in a quadrangle meet with Urbana, Champaign and Mattoon. The track boys did not fare so well and the field athletes took down third place. On the following Saturday the Maroons traveled to Chrisman to participate in a dual meet with Joe Moss' tracksters.

It had rained all day previous to the meet, and the site of the encounter was a sea of mud and water. Chrisman splashed to victory over the Maroon outfit and gave the boys some well needed experience. Rockstroh, Pleschner, Vogt, Dodd, and McIntosh showed up to advantage.

The Conference meet found but one Maroon qualifying, that being Ernie Pleschner. He finished on top with Spurlock of Peoria Central in the high jump at five feet seven inches to garner D. H. S. four points and ninth place in the meet.

In the District meet Pleschner was again the only Maroon to qualify and due to the terrible rainy weather he was only able to take down fourth place in the high jump.

Baseballers Enjoy Successful Season

A trot of about a mile to practice, a two hour workout at Garfield Park, where several local semi-pro teams were engaged in practice tilts, a ride or walk back to the high school building, a refreshing shower and then off to a good supper. Such was the daily schedule of Captain Jimmy Mather and his team mates, representing the 1931 Maroon baseball team of Danville High School.

However, it was worth all of this, as they enjoyed a successful season. Captain Mather led them to four victories in seven starts; two victories each over Champaign and Attica, two losses to Streator and a single one to Williamsport. A chance for another victory went fluttering away as continued bad weather finally caused the second game with Williamsport to be called off.

There was a flock of lettermen ready to report for training when the call was given.

Jimmy Mather was the logical man for captain, being a veteran of three years, a great ball player, and well liked by the whole squad.

The two pitchers, Francis Myers and Jimmy Williams, are also deserving of much credit. The former, a left hander, and the latter a right hander, alternating in the box and at first base, being in the game at all times.

While baseball is comparatively new in the Danville High School sport family, it has created much interest and has been successful from the beginning. The latter is due to the determination and spirit that the boys have shown and the coaching that various members of the faculty have extended to them. In 1931, the coach, Mr. Hoff, was typical of the coach who inspires and puts confidence and fight into the hearts of his players. A large share of the aforementioned success was due to Mr. Hoff.

The Boys' "D" Association is one of the few organizations in the school that limits its membership. Only those boys who have earned their varsity "D" in some branch of athletics are eligible to obtain membership.

Whenever a basketball tournament or other athletic function is held by the school, the Boys' "D" Association are the fellows who have a lot to do with the putting across of such an affair.

At the state district and sectional basketball tournaments the boys aided Mr. Whitesell immensely by erecting and taking down bleachers, taking care of the visiting teams, passing out programs, and ushering spectators to their seats.

The "D" Association has a three-fold purpose. It seeks to put athletics on the highest possible plane. It also strives to promote cooperation between the educational and athletic curricula of the school.

Butler, Maroon Tennis Man Wins District Title

Fred Butler with his smashing drives and general all around good playing led the Maroon tennis team through a fairly successful season during the 1931 campaign. Cole, Mendenhall, Bookwalter and Barrick however also gave good accounts of themselves during the meets.

Butler pushed all contestants aside in the District Meet at Hoopeston, in the finals eliminating "Jim" Mather, to win the Singles title and make him eligible for competing in the State meet the next Saturday at Urbana. Barrick and Bookwalter also qualified for this meet as they finished second in the District Doubles matches.

In the State meet Barrick and Bookwalter were defeated early in the tournament but Butler continued winning until the semi-finals where he was defeated by a boy who later won the championship. Butler also went to the semi-finals of the Big-12 Conference meet where he was defeated by Dahner of Lincoln.

Several dual meets were held with Champaign and Chrisman in which the Maroon team came out on top. Butler and several of the last year's team will be back next year to make up a good team.

Womack Leads Golfers in 1931 Season Meets

In that great, well known Scotch game of golf Danville High had a fairly good season. There were three dual meets held, one with Champaign and two with Champaign's next door neighbor, Urbana. The Maroon squad was able to take but one of these meets with Urbana. The Maroon aggregation was led by their captain Paul Womack.

D. H. S. was also represented in the Big-12 meet at Springfield but as the afternoon final rounds were played D. H. S. found but one of its representatives participating. That being Captain Womack. Womack however was able to place within the first ten men of the meet and thus earned his letter. In so doing he is the first boy to receive his letter in this sport in several years.

Several fall meets were also held with Champaign and Urbana, in which the Danville lads were able to break even with their opponents in the contests.

Next year's outlook is very promising as there will be many of the last year's team back.

Misses Bonstein and Twitchell Ably Direct Girls' Athletics

MISS ANN BONSTEIN

For four years Miss Bonstein has been connected with the Physical Education Department of D. H. S. and for three years she has been at the head of this department. This year has been a most successful one under her careful management. She was the coach of hockey, soccer, volleyball, and swimming. We are hoping that D. H. S. will always be as fortunate in having such a capable adviser for this department.

Miss Twitchell has been a member of the D. H. S. Faculty for three years. She has charge of classes in Physical Education 1 and 2 and in Advanced Swimming. She has coached volley ball, basketball and swimming which are practised after school during the different seasons of the year. We hope that she will be with D. H. S. for many years to come.

MISS JEAN TWITCHELL

Girls' Athletic Association Encourages Effort by Point System

Affiliated With State Organization.
Founded in 1925.

Back in 1925 before our present student body began to think of High School, G. A. A. was formed. The membership was small but everyone was so enthusiastic that the organization grew rapidly. Then interest died down but now, with the many clever ideas of our present advisers, Miss Bonstein and Miss Twitchell, the membership is again increasing.

MARGARET FORD

The local organization is a branch of the Illinois League of High School G. A. A.'s which exist for the purpose of promoting interest in athletics and building up a love of sport for sports sake.

To belong, a girl must earn 160 points and at least 60 more a semester to keep up her membership. The officers are chosen from this group. The president this year is Margaret Ford, who has displayed great ability and interest. Norma Allison, vice-president, is general chairman for all G. A. A. activities. Secretary - treasurer, Frances Redden, manages the financial side and keeps a record of all events, while Nina Habel keeps a record of all training rules. Cora Bolser is sports chairman for the tournaments in soccer and Irene Highboy for basketball. Points chairman, Mary Crain, records all points earned by the members.

NORMA ALLISON

When the total number of points reaches 600 the girl is awarded her numerals and becomes a "Bull Dog". This organization, sometimes called the "D" Association was formed several years ago. Before belonging, G. A. A. members are known as "pups". The leader is called a captain instead of a president. At present, Vivian Wills, fills this office. Some members earn 1200 points and are awarded with a "D". A few get 1600 and receive an "I" which is a state award. Fewer still reach 2000 are given an emblem in the form of Illinois.

Other interesting features are the May Fete and Water Carnival which are given in alternate years. Also representatives are sent to a summer camp each year. In addition to these, fun, fellowship and good health await those who belong to this organization.

Picnickers Enjoy Spring Breakfast

"PICNICKERS"

"What is so rare as a day in June,
Then, if ever, come perfect days."
—Lowell.

And they are happy days too. One in particular that G. A. A. members will never forget is June 5.

About dawn alarm clocks awoke sleepy girls to thoughts of the "Spring Breakfast." Some of the picnickers were still sleepy upon reaching the lake, but a dip in the cold waters soon overcame this and also sharpened appetites. A crackling fire and the odor of cooking increased this hunger.

After eating, awards were presented. Catherine Strader was given the good sportsmanship cup. Then the girls' awards, and happy thoughts were taken home and so the breakfast ended, a perfect morning in June.

Lake Vermilion Proves an Inviting Spot for Buddy Breakfast

"BUDDIES"

What was all this commotion coming down the street? On second glance we saw that it was a group of girls in a very big hurry. When asked the reason for all this commotion, they answered, "Why today is the day of the G. A. A."

Buddy Breakfast, and if we don't hurry we'll be late."

Afterwards we heard that these girls reached the high school out of breath, but strange to say, on time. With the aid of cars the members of the G. A. A. and their proteges reached an inviting spot at Lake Vermilion. The cool waters soon lured the youngsters, and although they had a gay time, their pangs of hunger soon brought them on shore. The food was soon consumed, then games and contests followed.

Most of the guests being freshmen, were naturally a trifle in awe of their superiors. But the G. A. A. girls soon won their respect and confidence and they all became jolly good friends.

Ten-thirty rolled along altogether too soon. Everyone regretted to leave, but when they did, they had the consolation of being able to look forward to a similar frolic in 1932.

D. H. S. is Hostess to Visiting Schools

For three years Danville High School has been hostess to the surrounding schools at Play Day. Though the car from Paris had a flat tire, most of the activities began at eight-thirty o'clock. Each girl was assigned to a color team with which she played all the day. Different games in, soccer, baseball, volley ball, and horseshoes, were staged between the different color teams.

After the games everyone gathered in the gym. A football routine and a cheerleader dance were given by our accomplished sophomores.

As soon as the entertainment was over everyone dashed to the pool room for a splash.

Twenty-five girls tried to dive and swim at the same time. Those who survived made a mad rush to the cafeteria. Between mouthfuls songs were sung by different schools and by the whole group. Awards were given to both the winning and losing teams.

Each year the G. A. A. of D. H. S. goes to some other school and are guests at their Play Day. Each year also, they are hostesses to other schools at Play Day. Some of the schools who were guests of D. H. S. this year were Paris, Marshall, Urbana, St. Joseph, Onarga, Hoopeston and Westville. All day the color teams played different games. At the end of the day the teams which had won the most of the games in which they participated were given chevrons.

Many friendships were made during this day of play and the girls are always glad to meet again at the next Play Day.

Pirates Once Again Reign Supreme on High Seas

G. A. A. Has Thrilling Experience at Annual Party

"PIRATES?"

"Fifteen men on a dead man's chest-- Yo-ho-ho and a bottle of rum!"

Sang the Corsairs after beating the forces of the Buccaneers in the game of "Battleship". These two pirate gangs were gathered in the girls' gym for the annual mid-year party on January 29. As a penalty for losing, the Buccaneers were hunting for a treasure of gold, more commonly known as potato-chips.

Then all the old pirates sat around the campfire and the captives or members-to-be were brought in. These victims were forced to do whatever the "band" under the leadership of Chief John Silver told them to or suffer the consequences by "walking the plank" landing in the deep cold waters of a wash tub.

After the group had mobbed the cook for their beer, now called pop, and potato chips, the two now friendly crews sailed for home.

Four Danville Athletes are Sent to Camp at Paris

Every year the G. A. A. sends four girls to one of the G. A. A. camps of Illinois. This year the girls were sent to the Eastern Camp at Paris.

The four girls are picked out of the most active members of the Junior Class. This is considered an honor by everyone and these girls are envied by the lower classmen.

They might well be envied being sent to any G. A. A. camp. One glorious week is spent in the out of doors with leading girls from other schools. All kinds of sports such as hockey, soccer, volleyball, tennis, baseball, horseshoes, swimming and archery are enjoyed.

The four lucky girls this year were Margaret Ford, Helen McDuffee, Vivian Wills, and Frances Redden.

The camp is divided into two groups called the "Imps" and the "Peps". All through the week contests are staged between these teams. At the end of the week the team having the most points received the honors. This year the "Peps" were fortunate enough to receive one more point than the "Imps".

Upperclassmen Are Victorious in Girls' Soccer

"But they fall!" So was it with the girls of D. H. S., but for what did they fall? The answer is, "Soccer." A great sport, try it sometime! At least it seemed so to all those who went out for it this fall. Due to the fact that our football heroes decorated the athletic field with their personages more than one hundred girls turned out for practice the first night.

Volley balls and foot balls were soon seen flying up and down the field. Oh, for a microphone when two of these balls crossed each others paths! But as we all know, girls usually get the best of any argument, so was it here. Practice continued for six weeks, each girl striving to improve her game and to gain a position on her class team. Another return for their work was the fact that points were given toward G. A. A. membership.

Finally teams were formed after which captains were elected. The upperclassmen were captained by Vivian Mills. The fighting Sophomores chose Beverly Morgan, and the Freshmen, Lois Weatherill. These friendly foes played many games before the big event which was to decide the victors arrived.

At last the tournament! No not of roses this time but of soccer. The Sophs came out of the first round victorious over our Freshmen, but the latter were in there every minute of the game. And so came the finals, and we'll tell you a secret, the Sophs had the upperclassmen

Girls Are Enthusiastic as First Hockey Season Opens

Miss Bonstein was the coach of a very successful hockey season for the year 1931. Much enthusiasm was shown by all the girls who came out for this sport. The football boys, however, didn't seem to appreciate this enthusiasm. Both the boys and girls wanted to use the football field for practice after school. At last a compromise was made. The girls were to use the field until five o'clock and then the boys were to use it and so far, far into the night.

At the first of the season it was decided to have six weeks of soccer and three weeks of hockey instead of having all of the nine weeks for soccer. Everyone agreed to this and twenty-five or more girls came out for hockey practice the first night. Everyone who could hit a ball went to the gym after school and donned her hockey garb. Because of the lack of time before cold weather, there was no hockey tournament played between the classes. Before the season was over, they had to resort to gloves, ear muffs, and heavy sweaters in order to keep their blood in circulation.

Many exciting games were witnessed by the people on the sidelines and many shins were whacked as the amateurs hacked at the ball with their clubs. However, all this hacking was soon done away with under the careful coaching of Miss Bonstein. One or two of the contestants suffered a black eye due to the powerful force behind the balls as they flew through the air. These "shinners," however, did not totally disable any members of the teams.

This season proved to be so successful that everyone is looking forward to the hockey season of 1932.

Sophomores Are School Champions in Girls' Basketball

Much Interest Shown by All Classes

For the past several years girls have been rushing down to the girls gym after eighth hour to play basketball. This season so many females wanted to keep their girlish figures that practices had to be divided up, the classes having different nights. The Freshmen improved their technic on Mondays and the Sophomores on the following night. On Wednesdays Miss Twitchell, coach, took a vacation but Thursdays found her back on the job with the Upperclassmen.

After a few weeks of the fundamentals of the game, teams were formed and captains elected. Frances Redden was the Seniors' choice and Margaret Ford, the Juniors'. The Sophomores chose Barbara Ingram and Carol Barrick captained the Freshmen.

Then the separate nights were discarded and the teams played each other. Later a preliminary tournament was held to see which three teams would play in the finals. The Sophomores came out on top with the Juniors and Freshmen following. So the two latter teams played the following week with the Underclassmen winning. Two days later, in a very close and exciting game, the second year students won by a small margin. They are the champions but they had to work hard to deserve this honor. In the tournament next year they will have a chance to see if they are still the champions.

Ball! Strike! Out! That's what is heard out on the ball field in the spring; only it's not boys this time. Who says that girls don't know anything about baseball?

For eight consecutive weeks practice was carried on. Then at last came the final clash for the championship.

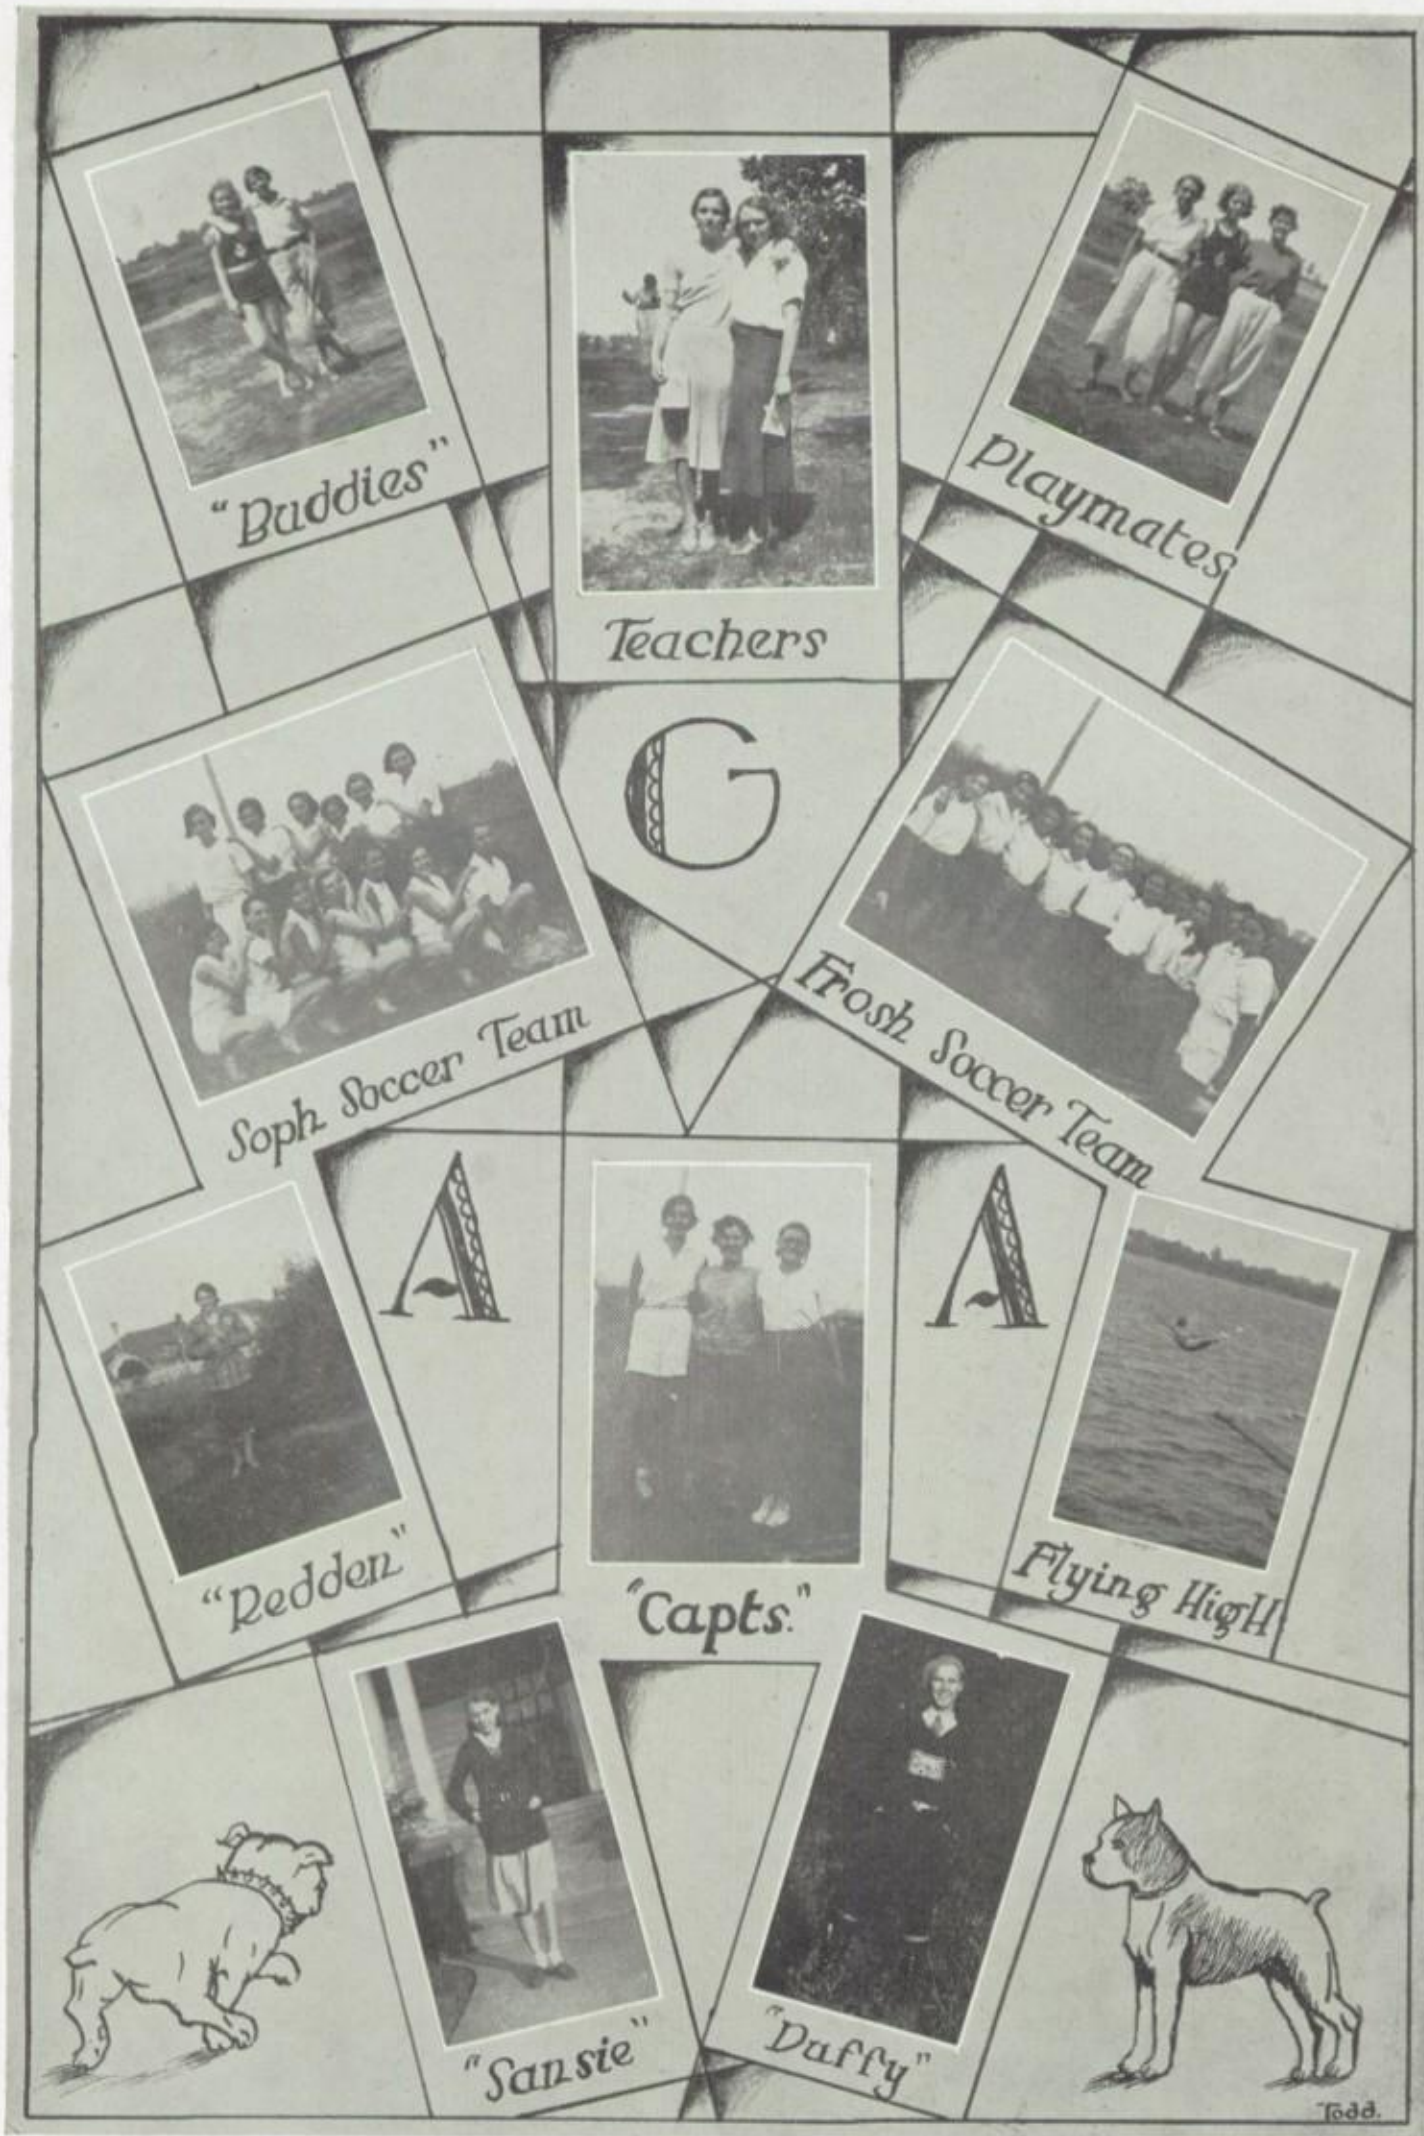

Each game was packed with thrills and excitement, but due to the rare combination of experience and good luck, the senior-junior team far outclassed the other contestants.

Many girls like to swim as well as play baseball and many of them have the honor of wearing a life saving badge. To acquire this, a girl must spend much time in practice to learn the many holds, breaks, and other essentials necessary to pass the final test. Instructions are given by Miss Twitchell in the Advanced Swimming Class. After the girls practice saving each other and are drilled on the other points, an examiner comes and everyone is given a chance to pass the test. This is one accomplishment for which every girl strives.

Outstanding Assembly Programs

D. H. S. Stage

"Captivating Melody"

"Oh! You pretty, pretty, pretty, pretty creature."

Jurien Hoekstra captivated his audience with these lines. (He also entertained with many old favorites and other charming songs, such as old seventeenth century ballads and negro spirituals). The students enjoyed him very much and Hoekstra was encored again and again, showing that students of our school know good music! Mr. Craft, the accompanist, played several brilliant solos.

"Master of Rythm"

"Melody, Harmony, Rythmn!"

These were the musical terms Ray Dvorak tried to drive home to us in a novel assembly. Who would have ever believed that our once popular waltz, "Three O'Clock in the Morning" was taken from that famous classical composition, "Traumerei" or that our ever popular war song, "Over There" received its tune by inverting the well known bugle call, "Reveille." Mr. Dvorak taught a lesson, he made the program a success by leading the students in songs. Everyone loves to sing, even though we can't all be Schuman-Heinks.

Assembly Programs

Chimes of Notre Dame

Chimes of Notre Dame! Cartoons! This made up the program presented by the Vawter Evangelistic Party. The students were fascinated watching Mr. House sketch a country girl changed into a whole flapper by our own D. H. S. The students were charmed by a whistling duet by Mrs. Vawter and Mr. Reeves, and last by a melody of Irish songs played on the Notre Dame chimes.

Armistice Day

"We should pay our debts to the soldiers who sacrificed their lives for us in the Great War." These were the words of Doctor Ewert who spoke to the students in honor of Armistice Day.

"How can we pay our debts?" the students asked. "By being mentally keen, trustworthy, and in good health," the Doctor answered. He also said to pattern ourselves after Lincoln and Roosevelt. These men have paid their debts and we should pay ours!

A Thanksgiving Program

Today we often think too much of the baked turkey and plum pudding. In an assembly program Reverend C. V. Brown explained that reverence should accompany the true Thanksgiving spirit. Reverend Brown is well known among the students. He has been our friend for many years.

"Pep" was the theme

of the second part of the program. A skit was presented by the G. A. A. girls. Avis Royalty and Victoria Seymour danced through several cheers! Eleven girls danced what might be called the "Gridiron Gallop." In conclusion the boys who were playing their last game for D. H. S. each said a few words showing their true spirit of fight and courage.

"The Valient"

Can you imagine our cold student-body being moved to tears? The actors and actresses of "The Valient" did just this! Charles Marine ably played the leading role of Dyke, a convict condemned to die. The girls in the assembly thought Benson Jewell as Warden Holt, very cruel as he led Dyke off to be executed. Kathryn Davis, as Josephine Paris, provided the love interest—she did it very well, too! Bob Long, as the priest, Father Daly, supplied the necessary religious air. Alden Bracewell and John Diffenderfer were jail-attendants.

An Appropriate Christmas Setting

The Christmas spirit was present in D. H. S. when the Music Department in its annual Christmas Cantata. For many years the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs have given a cantata during the home coming program. This year, under the direction of Mr. Rudy Cooper, they presented "The New Born King." The life of Christ was portrayed throughout the singing from His birth to His crucifixion. The solos and choruses were very beautifully arranged and presented.

Monday, February 29

Seventy-five below zero! Can you imagine it? But that's the kind of climate you would find at the South Pole. At least, Mr. Charles E. Lofgren found it so when he went as personnel secretary to Admiral Byrd.

Mr. Lofgren spoke before the students in the second of our Assembly Association Programs. He told of the preparation for this great expedition to the very bottom of the earth. It took three long years before Commander Byrd and his party of brave, fearless men were ready to say good-bye to old New York and sail to meet what ever fate had in store for them.

Mr. Lofgren told of the wonders of the vast Antarctic region. The six months of total darkness, the midnight sun and many other things of awe were brought out in his speech. He also told of the funny things that happened on the expeditions. The men all ate Eskimo Pies as a Sunday Evening treat. Think of eating ice-cream when it was forty below zero!

At the close of the program Mr. Lofgren introduced "Tom" his "Husky" dog to the student body. "Tom" was born on this expedition and was three months old before he saw daylight. He lived on frozen meat and snow until the party returned home once again.

Science—Its Thrills and Its Possibilities!

That was the theme of our assembly on Thursday morning, March 24. This was the third and last of the Assembly Association Programs and was one of the most interesting. The speaker, Mr. Glenn L. Morris was presented by Edythe Wait, president of the Science Club.

Mr. Morris's stage was his workshop and was filled with all sorts of devices and contraptions. The wonderful things he did with electricity seemed almost impossible. He produced the effect of an electrical storm, and many of the fair co-eds learned for the first time that they were afraid of lightning. He lit a fire by merely touching a button. What a break that would be for the boys who have to get up on cold winter mornings to fix the furnace.

In closing, Mr. Morris expressed his desire for the students to become more interested in this great field of possibilities.

One of our most interesting assemblies this year celebrated the two-hundredth anniversary of Washington's birth. The program consisted of three sketches each representing a distinct phase of his life.

The opening gave us an idea of some of his discouragements. A poor crippled lad unknowingly cheered
Washington after his heavy losses at Brandywine.

The second sketch took place in a rich Bostonian parlor where gaily ruled. There the stately minuet was danced by British red coated officers and the colonial ladies. A toast was drunk to the King but Washington later won them over to his side.

The third scene presented the quiet comfort of life at Mount Vernon.
Washington was in this homey atmosphere when news of his unanimous election as first president of the United States came.

Frolic and Fun Prevail in D. H. S.

PEP TEA DANCE

What an idea! Of course it was the Girls' Club who planned and carried out the idea of the dance on October thirtieth. From three forty-five until five thirty, preceeding the Danville-Decatur night football game, there was a novelty in fun and frolic.

MISS LOUISE TAYLOR
Adviser Dancing in the Boys' Gymnasium. The guests danced in the rhythm of a local ten piece orchestra.

To some, the main attraction was the refreshments. Just imagine all this fun for ten copper pennies.

ON WITH THE DANCE

Santa Claus visited Danville High School a little early this year. He came to help the Girls' Club at their annual All-School Party. On December 18, with several of his helpers, he arrived here in full costume. Santa brought a sled full of dolls to help the Entertainment Committee. Dancing Dominoes, a Jack-in-the-box, Raggedy Ann and Andy, and some Wooden soldiers danced and sang around a huge Christmas tree.

The Boys' gym was decorated to imitate the frozen north. Festoons of white paper and "snow" disguised the gym completely into Santas' realm.

Refreshments were served and everyone had a grand time.

F. REDDEN

Yes we have it in D. H. S., and the Girls' Club takes the cake. Why? Wait let's tune in to Station D. H. S. and see what Frances Redden has to say.

The guests are arriving now in taxis and on street cars; thanks to the Yellow Cab Company and the Illinois Power and Light Corporation respectively. There are some 200 in the gym. I guess they are all about here now. Hooray the party's on! They are playing dodgeball now but I think its going to end up in a free for all. Get an earful of that racket, it sounds like the eighth hour study hall, doesn't it? Time out for refreshments! Here's the menu: ice cream, cookies, milk, apples, oranges, nuts, and candy. Really it outclasses any pie eating contest I've ever seen. Some are calling for more already. Sh! Here comes a surprise. It's a doll for each girl and a truck for each boy. Is everybody happy? You bet! The gym looks like one of New York's busiest streets now, but all the babies make me wonder if the stork didn't make a miscalculation. Well, folks, it's time to go home now, but everybody has had a grand time. So I must say—Au Revoir, Aufeviedersehen and good bye.

Boosters Entertain

What a grand time was had on November six, when the Boosters entertained their members and guests.

It was in the nature of a dinner dance. The dinner, being a big inducement to the boys. Dancing started at five-thirty and continued until six, when all the guests adjourned to the cafeteria to indulge in a heavy meal. After the dinner they chose between dancing and stunts for entertainment.

Harry Seidler's Soothing Symphony furnished the music for the evening.

When seven-thirty rolled around the crowd adjourned to the football field, where they watched one of the exciting games of the year.

Junior-Senior Dance

Bright lights! Music! Dancing! The Place? The Hotel W o l f o r d. The Time?—May 20. The occasion? The Junior-Senior Dance. Every spring the juniors MARY JANE WALKER and seniors have a party. This party was very different from any of the previous years. It was a dance from nine until twelve o'clock. The ballroom was appropriately decorated for the occasion and was filled with many happy juniors and seniors. The music was furnished by a Danville orchestra.

During the evening a buffet luncheon was served. Boquets of spring flowers decorated the table. Every one enjoyed themselves immensely and the Junior-Senior dance of 1932 was a great success.

this three star production, have produced many operettas, but this one is undoubtedly their masterpiece. Approximately one hundred and thirty students took part in "Pepita." Snappy choruses of tap-dancing and ballet as well as solos added much to the atmosphere.

The plot was rather complicated. Pedro, the poor, crafty, and pessimistic innkeeper, could not pay his rent. Consequently he decided to marry his fiery daughter, Felipa, to Carlos, his landlord. Now this young and handsome fellow was implicated with a smuggler, Romero by name, who was transporting ammunition to the revolutionary forces in Mexico.

But these two, Felipa and Carlos that is, were not in love and determined to avoid marriage. Cupid saved the day, much to Pedro's consternation, with the advent of Pepita and the immensely rich Henry Hepworth. With him came sister Jane and Wilson, his faithful if not serious valet. Pepita and Carlos immediately felt the affects of the arrows while Felipa and Henry began to notice symptoms.

Pedro, financially disappointed at the turn of affairs, fell into a plot with Carlos in which Jane was to be kidnapped.

Now Jane was extremely lovely and quite romantic. However, the "bookish" pleadings of Wilson had no affect upon her. But when Carlos serenaded her and consented to show her some real bandits in the wild and wooly Mexican mountains—well, that was an entirely different story.

That evening they secretly set out to see Romero's camp. Romero was one of these strong, silent men and just the type for Jane. He immediately fell in love with her and refused to take any ransom except Jane's hand in marriage. Her brother agreed to this arrangement much to Wilson's disgust and Pedro's agitation. The valet was half heartedly in love with her and the innkeeper had to pay his rent.

Just at that time word came that the insurrectors had won the revolution, and after some consideration, all returned to the village. Pedro received a handsome dowry from Hepworth and soon after Romero was declared governor. And so the curtain fell amid much gayety upon three happy couples, a contented Pedro, and a would-be-Mexican Wilson.

Laughter! Thrills! Pathos!

Philip Barry's three-act comedy, "The Youngest" reached the hearts of all its audience. Cheers and applause throughout the entire play proved that it was well received. The cast was extraordinary and the acting was superb.

The plot was based on the Cinderella theme. Richard, "the youngest" of the Winslow family was down-trodden and over-ridden by his older brothers Mark and Oliver, who had made a fortune in pins. Richard refused to work in the pin factory because he preferred to write. Thus life was made miserable for him.

Nancy Blake, a charming young busybody came to visit "Muff" Winslow with the intention of remodeling Richard. Through her clever planning Richard soon ruled the roost in the Winslow family and also found himself in love with Nancy. He was terribly hurt when he learned how Nancy, the only one he ever trusted, had tricked him and made him over. But all was finally forgiven and the curtain fell as the young couple realized they were at last equals.

Students Enjoy Excellent Food and Service of High School Cafeteria

"In Line For Food"

It has been a custom for many generations to eat—and in this particular institution the authorized time for some students to partake of sustenance is at 11:45, and for those who are not so hungry at 12:30.

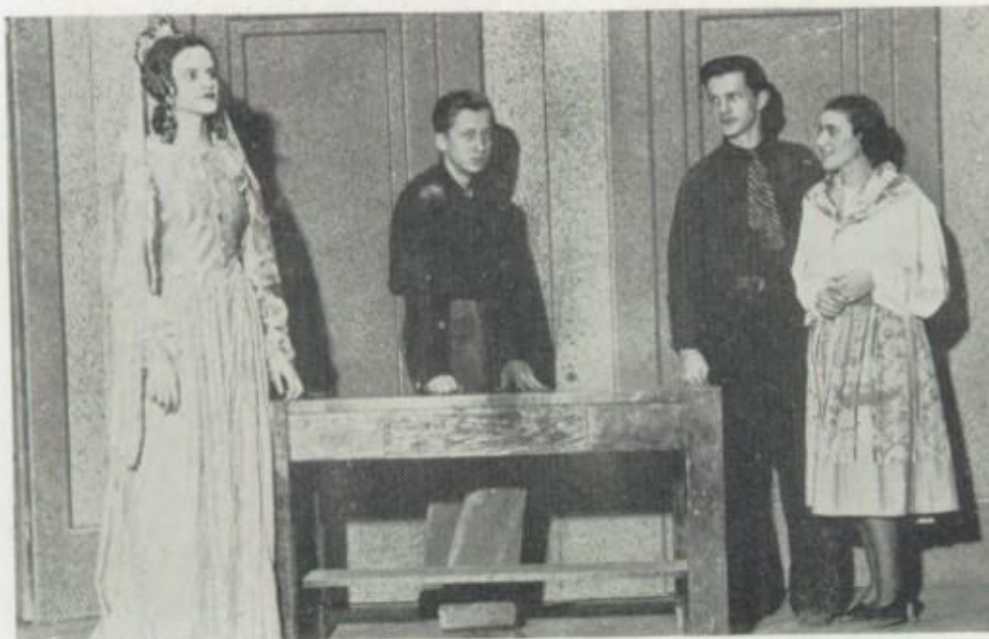

What savory odors arise from the cafeteria during fourth hour! When the bell finally rings, there is a dropping of books, and the scurry of many, little feet toward "the eating place." "Butch" Pleschner and Hank Keeslar usually have a good place in line, up towards the front where everyone aspires to be!

Under the able direction of Mrs. Dodson and a corps of efficient assistants, the management of our cafeteria moves on smoothly. Food? There is no better! Service? Absolutely superb! Economy? My dear friends, eating in our cafeteria is the only way in which some of our school's Romeos manage to save their scheckels—and scheckels infer women!

So we're advising you students to give yourself a treat and enjoy your noon's repast in the good, old cafeteria!

Varsity Debaters Come Out With Many Laurels

Honorable judges, worthy opponents, and friends, may I present our Varsity Debate Team!

D. H. S. participated in the Big Twelve Conference and the State High School Debate League. In the Big Twelve Conference our boys were victorious in all the debates but Lincoln.

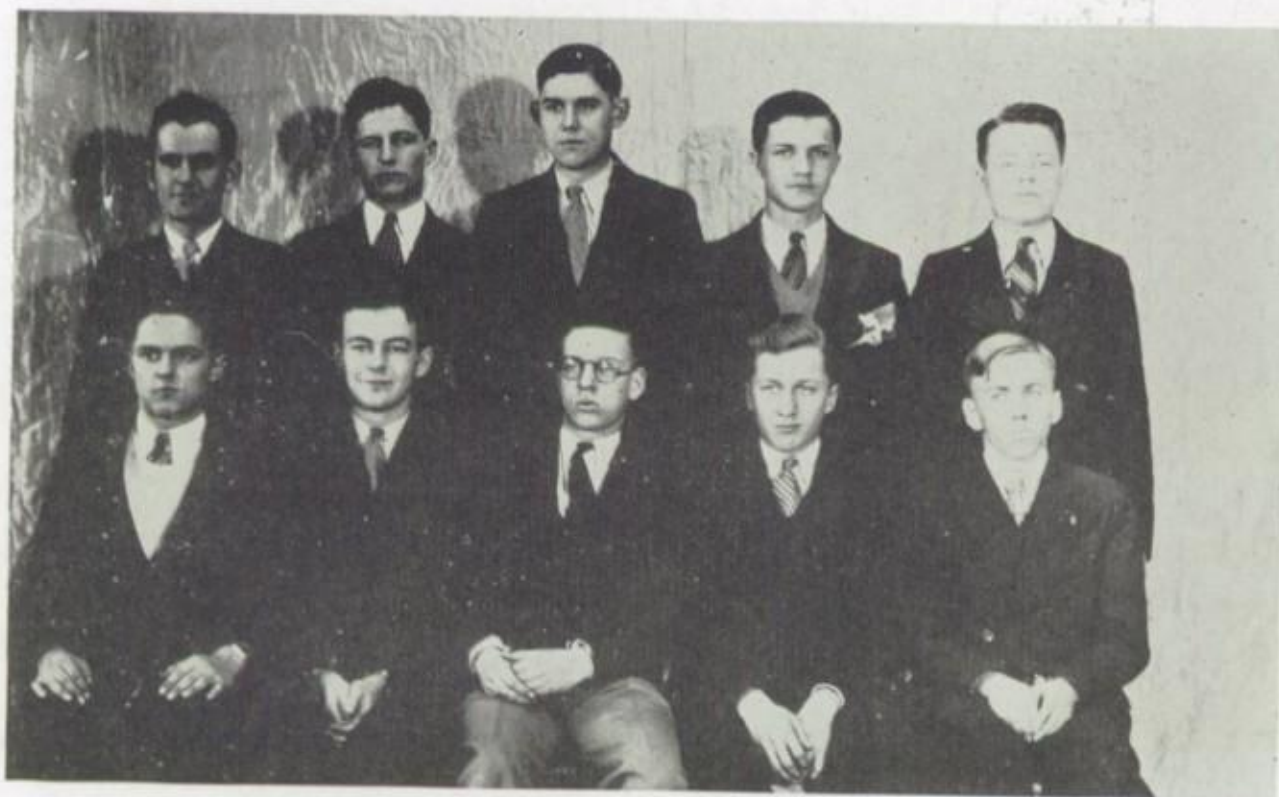

The subject for debate was "Resolved: that the several states should enact legislation providing for Compulsory Unemployment Insurance." The affirmative team consisted of Lincoln Richardson, Hugh Benniger, and James Williamson, and the negative team was composed of Alden Bracewell, Milton Wolford and Earl Chambers. The two other boys in the team were Oliver Marshall and Roland Towell. These boys have to understand both sides of the question and must be prepared to take the place of anyone on either team.

The subject for the High School Debate League is the same as that for the Big Twelve Conference. This makes ten debates. Danville are Big 12 champions this year.

VARSITY DEBATERS

Front Row: Roland Towell, Oliver Marshall, Milton Wolford, Earl Chambers, James Williamson.

Senior and Freshmen Debaters Fight for Championship Honors

If you need any after-dinner speakers, I'm sure the Interclass debaters will be glad to oblige you. You will find they have had a lot of experience, especially on the subject "Resolved: that bus lines shall not operate between places where a railroad is established."

On January 28, the Senior affirmative, Henry Baum, Kathryn Bracewell, and Melvin Lewis debated the Junior negative, Roy Hong, Victor Brown, and James Currie. The Senior affirmative won this debate. The same afternoon the Junior affirmative, Ira Jones, Ethel Jane Scott, and Bill Schaffer debated Senior negative, Marion Detweiler, Mildred Siefert, and Frances Hughes. The Senior negative won this debate. The Senior team chosen consisted of Henry Baum, Kathryn Bracewell, and Melvin Lewis. The Junior team chosen consisted of Ethel Jane Scott, Victor Brown, and James Currie.

On March 18, the Junior team, as above, debated the Freshman team, Robert Wright, Louise Baum, William Ehorn. The Freshman team won this debate. The Seniors and Freshman have yet to debate to ascertain whom is victorious.

The Inter-class debaters have shown unusual ability and willingness to work this year. All the teams deserve honorable mention and don't forget to call upon them for any speeches you may have to make.

Gaines Mysteriously Shot in Cafeteria

Boehm Held as Suspect

Hurrying feet, excited voices terrified eyes, fainting girls, the whole Wrangler's Club! What was the matter? Why, Charles Gaines had been shot upon the cafeteria stairs!

An examination revealed that his injury was not really serious but upon his person was found a woman's small purse which contained, along with other articles, a note which hinted at trouble with "John." Because of other evidence, this was enough to convict Boehm of assault and battery with intent to kill.

On the dark, dreary, and rainy day of November 19, the trial of John Boehm versus the State began. Record crowds attended and reporters vied with each other for "scoops."

With the appearance of the morose Judge Baum, the court began its regular procedure. Several witnesses were called upon to give the facts of the case and to establish the defendant's character. However, nothing was definitely proved until Gaines and Boehm took the stand.

After a few other testimonies, Baum's sonorous voice dismissed the jury and instructed it to return with a verdict of guilty, not guilty or disagreed. Thus a state of unsatisfied curiosity was left among the spectators.

DRAMATIC SCENE FROM TRIAL

Sept. 9

Ho hum! School has started again. I hear there are five new teachers this fall. I haven't had time to look them all up yet, but I think they ought to be kinda warned what they're getting into. Oh Gee! My coat of tan is almost wearing off. By the way, the trophy case has finally arrived. The Class of '30 was supposed to give it way back when.

Sept. 11

Good Night! There are 377 freshmen running around wild. If it weren't for the depression I'd take out some accident insurance. Say, I've made a new discovery. If you see some one come plowing down the hall with a one-side-or-a-leg-off look in his eyes, it's a freshman. But after all, I've seen dumber Freshmen in my day. I tried to direct one down to the pool instead of 249, and he told me to go there myself and cool off. I believe he said his name was Jewell.

Sept. 16

We are going to have night football games this year. Isn't that just too romantic?—A yellow flood of light pouring down on the field, the sound of the shrill whistle, the crack of the ball mingled with the cry of "Peanuts, peanuts." I sat in 249 all day watching them put up the poles for the lights. By sitting on my American history and English books, I could see pretty well without stretching my neck out of joint.

Sept. 21

My poor feet! I suppose I'll be lame for life. Moral: Never let your head run away with your feet; you are liable to have fallen arches. This is how it happened. I got very patriotic and followed the band down town to sell season tickets for the football games. I felt grand on the way down and was remarking to a friend of mine how much our band resembles Sousa's, but by the time I started back I thought it sounded more like Herr Louie and his Hungry Five.

Sept. 25

Tonight we had our first football game. It was grand even if we did come out on the little end of the score 13-7. But I think we did all right considering the team Kankakee sent down here. I bet there were 5,000 people there. I can't explain how it feels to be in a maddened mob, with thousands of voices joined in one deafening roar, but somehow it kinda makes you forget everything else and your one desire is to out yell the person next to you.

Oct. 1

To-day was Thursday, but it might as well have been blue Monday for me. The one bright spot in the day was a program. Mr. Firebaugh talked and told a few good jokes which raised my spirits only to let them drop again when Mr. Wakeley started handing out dollar bills to those who had the most signatures on some kind of petitions. And all my life I've tried contests and the like, and just when I swore off because I bit too hard on the last one (they guaranteed to teach you how to make money slick and they sent me back this answer "Greece it") then something genuine turns up when I get cautious. Oh well, it's a great life—for somebody else.

Oct. 3

Last night we took Streater for a ride and let them walk back! The first quarter the two teams were contented to make faces at each other. By the second quarter they were getting angrier and tried to knock each other down. In the third quarter the miracle happened. I don't know whether Coach Whitesell has made such an angel of Bluford Smith that he sprouted wings or what. Anyhow he flew to catch a powerful pass from Sheahan that would have dented a brick wall, and galloped over the goal line. McIntosh fed Bluford another goal and the game closed 13-0.

Oct. 16

Ho hum! I can hardly suppress the yawns. We had night school. Oh! it's quite an event, and it's great sport. Of course, everybody flouted the best of their wardrobe in everybody else's face and all the girl's hair had turned curly over night (school). After all the caution I used to side track the devoted parents, they walked into German class while I was freely translating (oh much, much too freely indeed). Everything else went along smoothly and Night School was a big success.

Nov. 2

To-day was bundle day, and mother insisted on giving away half of my clothes—while I argued that if they'd see my wardrobe, they'd be giving me clothes, not asking for them. Well, dear old diary, it's time for me to ring off. Mid-semesters are just around the corner, and I must rest my good right arm to keep it in good shape for the coming battle.

Nov. 25

It's a pity Thanksgiving isn't a weekly occurrence at least we could all die happy—of indigestion. That game yesterday was one I won't forget in a hurry. That team from Marshall High of Chicago was some team. If they had only worn striped shirts, they would have looked like escaped convicts. Imagine my surprise when we won 29-0.

Dec. 19

Of all the things I've been hearing about that Streater basketball game last night. The first and worst was the score 18 to 12. And they didn't get to Streater until 9 o'clock. This is how the story goes. Blame it onto the bus. It seems that we keep the dear old relic of a bus partly for sentiment and partly to haul our athletic heroes around in. Anyhow the old dear got to Kankakee and a little past it, when it died. The boys let the old thing lie and took taxis, but arrived fashionably late. The game lasted until 11. A new bus was waiting to take the Danville men home, but the brakes stuck and again there was delay. And they didn't get home till 5 A. M.—How Awful!

Jan. 11

Exams are again closing in on me. I wonder who invented exams. He oughta be shot. Well, we have one less Romeo among our faculty, now since Mr. Kessel has tied himself up. We'll have a new instructor, Mr. Dudley, by name, next semester. He is our new English instructor and seems very able to tackle the job. The International Language Club gave a play. You should have seen Arnold Ward (yes, sheriff Ward's son if you please) and Bill Van Leiu who thought they were Paris and Aneas and galloped around the stage in sheets hunting a wife. These people who can translate Latin ought to be put in a separate colony by themselves. Then the rest of us might get somewhere.

Feb. 8

So the second semester has begun and another set of exams has passed. Speaking of exams I think I'd better change the subject. By the way at last the Maroon and White has decided to be modern and has reduced its size on account of the depression. We have been shipped a new bunch of Freshmen again. As usual they are slightly green. Freshmen always were a menace to society, but this semester they are worse than that. (Ask the P. G.'s). There isn't room for them both in the assembly room, so the P. G.'s have to stay out. Evidently the authorities didn't think the freshmen were beautiful or else they just forgot the old saying "Age before Beauty."

Feb. 12

All week I've seen people stumbling around the halls, looking like advertisements for the International Casket Corp. Just when I got worried, I found out they were only Miss Miller's play cast. And that reminds me, I've got to pick up a stray $.35 somewhere. After taking care of a lady's squalling offspring last night, and thinking may be I'd get $.50, or possibly $.35, but probably a quarter, she told me she hoped I'd come back and play with little Horace often. Aw-Rats!

During the last game I got kinda poetic and wrote a poem. I guess it's safe to print it here in my little diary. This is it:

A Basket Ball Game.

A hem!

Everybody's yelling, "Let's go!"
The team is on the floor,
Captain Burow answers back,
"For gosh Sakes, shut the door."
Then Dynamite won the game
Just in his usual way;
Jim gave his enemy one smile,
And he fainted dead away.
And when that guy came to,
"Coach, I can't go on he cries
I'm really seeing things,
I've got spots before my eyes.
"I gave a guy a little rap
Just to show him what's going on,
And when I looked again
His two front teeth were gone!"

Amen!

Feb. 19

To-night I saw the "Youngest". If you don't know what I mean I feel sorry for you. Being as this was depression I thought I would save my thirty-five cents but then I decided it might be worth it to get a few lessons in sophistication from Katy McNeill. Phil Yeager was my idea of a panic. I tell you I laughed until I couldn't find my breath and I almost had to ask the old lady next to me to use artificial respiration on me to keep me alive. They gave out the cutest red programs too. I meant to save mine for my memory book but the kid brother got it and made an aeroplane out of it.

Feb. 26

We had a program this A. M. on Washington. Even the Social Science Dept. is dramatically inclined these days. The stage was all set like an old Colonial Mansion, but the best part was the costumes. The girls wore dresses fairly smothered with ruffles and suspended by two tiny shoulder straps. They had white cotton wigs on and those little black dots on their faces. I don't know what they really are but I always call them sympathetic dimples. And the boys—Can you imagine our athletic hero, Ernie Pleschner dressed in knee breeches, and a scarlet swallow tailed coat, topped off with a white wig and a beribboned pigtail. I can't either, but I saw him. Wait, I forgot the tin sword he was carrying. It was too much for me to see Ernie doing the minuet. (I hope the janitor gets around and screws the seat back on before the next assembly. I must have laughed so hard I shook it loose.) At first I thought I was seeing things but I wasn't. There were three different Washingtons, Dick Hartsook, John Dunwoody, and Glenn Humphrey.

March 3

Once again the faculty can gloat over us. They had a kid party last night, that must have been quite a success, judging from the number of "subs" there are at school today. Of course I heard all about it. But after all, there's nothing like being there. It seems the main feature was a mock wedding. Poor Miss Songer got Mr. Harms wished off on her and vice versa. Mr. Walters was the best they could do for a best man. And then everybody gasped as Mr. Duffin came tripping in as the little flower girl, flashing his famous tooth-paste -add at the happy pair. Wish I'd had a ringside seat at the affair.

March 7

Everybody's kicking because we lost the Big Twelve Swimming Meet. I don't see what they're harping about. We did the swimming meet, we just failed to collect the decision. We are still the best swimmers in the Big Twelve Conference and everybody knows it. If any one wants to dispute my word, they will get something they are not looking for. You know I've been concentrating on the matter, and I've decided we oughtn't to blame the judge either. Maybe he just had a falling out with the wife or maybe he hasn't got a wife. Or maybe he had a touch of lumbago or acute indigestion at the time and couldn't see quite straight. Anyhow, no one should jump to conclusions; you are liable to miss them.

March 8

I'm not quite sure what happened tonight, but they tell me we are out of the District Tournament. I'm going up and inspect that new score board. I bet it slipped up a couple of baskets, because we were way ahead and then all of a sudden we weren't. That Cox from Rossville was quite a man. Wonder what they feed him up there. It must be the same thing they feed giraffes. If I were Cox, I would have gone professional long ago and joined a circus. I guess I'll have to admit he's good, but he's no better than "Dynamite". "Dynamite" made ten points and Coxey, the scoring ace, only made eleven, and he's got a two-foot reach on "Dynamite." After all, that was a good game, and I'm willing to bet my gold fillings that we'd beat Rossville if we played them again.

April 5

Tonight I saw the Varsity give the Faculty a good beating. It was the best basketball game of the season. Both teams were dressed in the latest Spring Styles. Dynamite Williams and Blueford Smith featured something new in head gear. So many illegal substitutions were made that when the final gun cracked, every man on the Varsity and Faculty was out on the floor and there were three balls in play. Whatta game!

April 6

It won't be long now and school will be out. I went down to the office this A. M. and got some of the important dates so I guess I'll write them down so I won't forget them.

SUCCESS . . .

Success is builded upon Training, Ambition, and Character. The young man or woman who is now on the threshold of a business career who starts with these principles and follows them through life is not going to fail.

The great financiers of today are men who started in life with very little of this world's goods, but fired by ambition and an ideal they carried on meeting and conquering all obstacles until finally they reached the goal of financial success. All of these men practiced thrift and acquired the habit of saving—early in life they formed a banking connection by opening a checking or savings account. They eagerly sought the advice and counsel of their Banker on all their problems—in this way the cornerstones were laid for the great financial structures of today.

Young Man—Young Woman!! The business world is seeking talent—opportunity is at your door; reach out and grasp for the success just ahead. Start right by making a banking connection, open a checking or a savings account or buy a bond. Go to your banker with your problems and you will be surprised at his interest in your welfare; follow his advice and you will have mounted the first step on the ladder reaching to success.

Our Greetings go forth to the Danville High School Faculty and to the entire Student Body.

Dorothy: "Oh, you're making faces at me."

Bob: "No, I'm not. My glasses are slipping off and I don't want to let go of your dear little hands."

Night Watchman: "Young man, are you going to kiss that girl?"

Youth (straightening up): "No, sir."

Night Watchman: "Here, then, hold my lantern."

Senior: "Why is a nautical mile longer than a land mile?"

"Because things swell in water."

"I have many different varieties of candlesticks that I would like to sell you," said the door-to-door salesman.

"Humph, are you sure you acquired them properly?"

"You may judge for yourself, madam. I was married last week."

Father: "I've been thinking, my son, of retiring next year and leaving the business to you."

Graduate: "There's no hurry, is there, Dad? You go ahead and work a few years more and then we can retire together."

When young Jimson was nervous he stammered. He was nervous at his wedding breakfast; he was doubly so when called upon to make a speech. Rising awkwardly, he stammered, "I'm sure my w-w-wife is going to prove a perfect ba-ba-boon to me."

"Are you Mrs. Oglethorpe?"
Miss Oglethorpe, if you please."
"Oh, sorry—my fault!"
"Sir, you flatter yourself."

LOW BRIDGE

A little moonlight now and then
Will marry off the best of men.

A young lady entered a stationery store and asked for a pound tin of floor wax.

"I'm sorry, miss," said the clerk. "All we carry is sealing wax."

"Don't be silly," she snapped. "Who'd want to wax a ceiling?"

An ancient car chugged painfully up to the gates of the races. The gatekeeper, demanding the usual fee for automobiles, called: "A dollar for the car." The owner looked up with a pathetic smile of relief. "Sold," he said.

Young Scribbler and his bride were alone for the first time in their new home. "Darling," she cried, "I must make a terrible confession to you. I can't cook."

"Aw, that's all right, dear. I've a confession to make, too. I'm a poet, and there won't be anything to cook."

VACATION BANKROLL

Little bankroll, ere we part,
Let me hug you to my heart.
All the year I've clung to you,
I've been faithful, you've been true.
Little bankroll, in a day
You and I will start away
To a gay and festive spot—
I'll come home, but you will not.

The mountaineer was driving a single hog to Atlanta when a man overtook him on the highway.

In reply to questions the mountaineer said that he could get $2.00 more for the hog in Atlanta than at the county seat, and that it took him two days to go to Atlanta and two days more to return home.

"Man, you get only $2.00 more for the hog in Atlanta and it takes all that time?"

"Time?" said the mountaineer. "What's time to a hog?"

Scotch Gangster: "Now, then, laddies, ye'd better pay up or I'll be taking ye foe a-a-walk."

English Professor: "Correct this sentence: 'Before any damage could be done the fire was put out by the volunteer fire department'."

Frosh: "The fire was put out before any damage could be done by the volunteer fire department."

Mistress: "You will cut and roll the lawn, weed the gravel path, pot some chrysanthemums, plant all those rose bushes, clean out the green-house, and see to the heating apparatus, and - -"

New Gardener: "Excuse me, madam, but is this a day's work or a five-year plan?"

"Reginald, stop using such language."

"William Shakespeare uses it."

"Keep away from him then; he's not fit for you to play with."

Proud Mother—"Yes, he's a year old now, and he's been walking since he was eight months old."

Bored Visitor—"Really? He must be awfully tired."
